NEW SIGNS OF POWER SHOWN BY DEMOCRATS

Robinson Unites Discordant Party Elements to Present Solid Front

ISSUE OF ECONOMIES

Many Democrat Senators Backed Debuture for Political Reasons

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1929 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington — The Democratic party, insofar as its representative in congress is a reflection of the party fortunes, has been rejuvenated by the events of the past ten days. Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader, in the senate is the recipient of congratulations for he has done what Republican leaders would have dared he could not do — namely the discordant elements of the Democratic party into a solid front and thus encompass the defeat of a Republican president in his first test of strength with congress.

Just what Senator Robinson did may not have been apparent to those on the outside but the hours of persuasion and the persistent way in which he struggled with his own party colleagues to unite is one of the major incidents of national politics whose effect may be far-reaching.

"It's a masterful stroke now," said one prominent Republican senator, "but ultimately it will mean the destruction of the Democratic party."

In other words even the Republicans will agree that as a piece of strategy to bring confusion into the ranks of the enemy is a logical thing to do and they know well how effective it is because as a minority party they have done the same thing. But the particular issue involved this time is a question of economies. The export debenture plan is not really approved by half the Democratic membership. They voted for it with mental reservations. But politically it was a simple thing to do because the export plan was not mandatory but optional and in defending one's vote a Democratic senator can say he merely meant to give the proposed farm board all the power necessary to judge of the soundness of any and all plans.

MADE WRONG MOVE

What the Republican leadership failed to do was to insist on amending the bill to make the export debenture plan compulsory. There were Democrats who never would

250 Nabbed In Strike At Rayon Mills

National Guardsmen Make Arrests on Charges of Intimidation

BULLETIN
Elizabethton, Tenn. — (AP) — The more than 250 textile strikers arrested today on charges of intimidation, were released shortly before noon after Ben Allen, county attorney general, had addressed them. They were freed without bond and Magistrate George Ryan said he did not know whether hearings would be held.

Elizabethton, Tenn. — (AP) — More than 250 strikers were arrested today on charges of intimidation and were escorted to the courthouse square here by a company of national guardsmen. They were not placed in jail as the jail is too small to hold that number.

Hearings were arranged today for 29 persons charged with intimidation in connection with operation of picketing lines near the American Bemberg and American Glanzstoff Rayon plants which were forced to close April 15 by a strike of 5,000 workers.

The alleged strike sympathizers were released yesterday but were released immediately by Sheriff J. M. Moreland because the arresting deputy had no mittimus. Later when the deputy took steps to obtain the necessary paper, the sheriff arranged instead to have the accused persons appear in magistrates' court this morning for hearings.

LABOR HEADS PRESENT

The executive committee of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, with a group of delegates, in convention at Knoxville, was expected here today for a meeting with the textile mill strikers to study the situation. Original plans called for the attendance of the entire state federation.

The organization yesterday adopted a resolution, asking Governor Horton to select immediately a representative of the strikers, and another from the textile corporations, who, with a third named by them, would meet for possible arbitration of differences.

Meanwhile the excitement which resulted from the discovery yesterday of a "bomb" at a non-union chair factory here had subsided. News of the finding of the "bomb" which turned out to be a powerful rocket, spread rapidly throughout the town and it was not until the explosive was cut into that tension was allayed.

A special guard was maintained about the home of Crawford Alexander, bank president and anti-union leader, today after authorities heard rumors of possible attempts to destroy it.

Operations at the textile plants were reported by the company of officials to be increasing steadily, with sufficient workers returning to their jobs to carry out the program of "gradual resumption" of activities.

RIGHT TO FLY OVER COUNTRY NOT YET GIVEN

Eckener Expected to Take Off Wednesday Morning for United States

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Friedrichshafen, Germany — (AP) — Postponement of the scheduled departure of the German air liner Graf Zeppelin for the United States tomorrow morning was announced today by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, who stated he had not yet received permission from the French authorities to fly over France. Dr. Eckener hoped, however, to be able to start by Wednesday evening.

Dr. Eckener told the correspondent that he had applied a fortnight ago for permission to fly over France but that thus far the French authorities had not replied.

"Today the French asked the German foreign office why I flew over the Creuzot ammunition works," he said referring to a recent flight of his dirigible over southern France and the Mediterranean. "I have explained that I was 400 metres high so certainly could not get any pictures, but took that route because it was the most direct. It is certain we can start Wednesday evening."

Weather conditions were extremely favorable for the flight over the

Kenosha Officers Hunt 'Mystery Threat' Senders

Kenosha — (AP) — Police and postal authorities here today are making a search for the person who sent threatening "mystery packages" to five citizens recently in the public eye.

Those who received the threats yesterday are Lewis W. Powell, former district attorney; William E. O'Brien, city manager; D. J. Rosenblum, foreman of the county grand jury called to investigate the county's "unsolved crimes," George Stevens, clerk of the jury, and A. J. Kuback, a local merchant.

The packages, all of which were alike, contained a miniature hour glass, wrapped in a Chicago newspaper, called "The Greek Star" and dated May 3. They also contained a note written with ink on brown paper. It read:

"Your hour is about here." It was not signed.

The packages received by Powell, Rosenblum and Kuback were mailed from Waukegan, Ill., sometime before 7:30 a. m. yesterday, postal inspectors said. The others were sent from Milwaukee a short time later. All were received late yesterday.

Authorities were at a loss to find a motive for the threat. Since Kuback has been in no way involved in the labor dispute here and the grand jury investigations of violence alleged to have arisen from them, they were inclined to scoff at the theory that this was another incident connected with them.

Airplane Cameras Show Enemy Moves In Night

Columbus, Ohio — (AP) — The ease with which the shield of darkness may be lulled away and nocturnal troop movements revealed to enemy cameras will be shown by demonstrations of night aerial photography during the army's air-ground maneuvers in central and southwestern Ohio this week and next.

The device which makes possible night photography from an airplane by means of a flashlight is more than three years old, but has been closely guarded by the army while brought to a high degree of efficiency.

A special camera, its shutter, synchronizing with a special flashlight apparatus takes the pictures from the plane. The method of synchronization and the chemical composition of the flashlight powder are military secrets.

"The flash, according to army officials, is so quick that it does not register on the human eye."

By means of this device enemy movements of troops and material and activities around depots and other military centers, usually carried on under the cover of night, may be photographed, possibly without the enemy being aware of the picture being taken. It is possible to develop these pictures and drop them to earth with little parachutes within ten minutes.

With nearly a hundred ships due at Wright Field, Dayton and Norton field, Columbus, yesterday held up by storms and bad weather, two fields threatened to be the scene of great activity should all the scheduled units arrive today. Orders state that all units are to be at their stations by tonight. A few hours of grace is allowed, however, by the

COLLEGE ROW IS CARRIED TO UNION CONFAB

Students and Faculty Take Dispute to Floor of Buffalo Convention

Des Moines, Ia. — (AP) — A faculty member and a trustee of Des Moines university have gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to present to the Baptist Bible Union convention the students' and faculty's side of the discussion that has shaken the school.

On the same train with these two, Dean Earl C. Callaway and the Rev. Minor Stevens, secretary of the university board and also of the Bible union.

Four others left the campus last night for their home. They were E. Knechtel, Morris Rose, J. P. Dempster and Frank Smith, Canadian students. They were given police protection to the station to prevent a recurrence of a Sunday night demonstration which was the culmination of resentment which one faction of the student body harbored because of a belief that an effort was being made to "Canadianize" the school. Rose and Dempster were set upon by a group of students Sunday night in front of a minister's home where they had been given refuge.

Of the major actors in the discordant affairs of the university, only one, Dr. Harry C. Wayman, deposed president, remained. Although he is listed to speak before the Buffalo convention, he decided to stay here to keep the university in operation.

To leave, he believed, might be in contempt of a court injunction obtained yesterday by students under which the school is ordered to continue its classes, despite an order by the board of trustees closing the institution indefinitely.

CANADIANS FOR SHIELDS

The four Canadian students who returned home last night expressed their support of the policies of T. T. Shields, chairman of the university board and president of the Bible union, who left Des Moines under police guard following the student outbreak Saturday night.

SENATE PLANS TO PROBE TREATMENT OF INDIAN WARDS

Washington — (AP) — Plans for an intensive investigation of the government's treatment of the Indians in seven western states were announced today by Chairman Frazier of the senate Indian affairs committee.

The investigation, Frazier said, will include reservations and Indian schools in Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Montana and Arizona and will be passed on many letters the committee has received complaining of conditions.

Final action on the plans, Frazier said, will be taken as soon as the committee can be called together and the committee will start for the west as soon as the senate recesses which probably will be next month.

Frazier issued a call for a meeting of the committee last week, but Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, who has been acting as the committee examiner was ill and unable to attend. Wheeler, however, said today that he was in full accord with the plans outlined by the chairman.

LEADERS WANT SENATE TO CUT DOWN MARGIN

Action Is Protest to Curb Action in House on Debuture Plan

M'NARY SEES PASSAGE

Final Action, Delayed Yesterday, May Be Taken Today or Tomorrow

BULLETIN
Washington — (AP) — Leaders of the Democratic and Republican independent coalition which favors the export debenture plan gave advance notice in the senate today that a serious challenge would meet any attempt by the house to decline on constitutional grounds to receive the farm bill because it included the debenture provision.

Washington — (AP) — As a second protest against the export debenture provision a number of administration senators have decided to vote against the farm relief bill at the time a ballot is taken either late today or tomorrow on final passage of the measure.

Supporters of President Hoover like Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, Senator Moses of New Hampshire, and a substantial number of other Republicans are endeavoring to make the vote in favor of the farm bill as small as possible in an effort to impress the house with the great majority of sentiment in the senate in favor of the debenture proposition so strongly objected to by the White House.

In spite of this defection, however, the measure is expected by Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee to pass by a vote of 50 to 40.

Senator McNary said today, however, that he was not one of those to vote against the bill.

"I have every hope," he said, "of getting a good farm measure in a conference of senate and house members after the bill is passed by the senate."

The view held by McNary is shared by Senator Thomas of Idaho, and Capper of Kansas, members of the agriculture committee, who also opposed the debenture plan.

ACTION IS DOUBTFUL

There remained a great deal of speculation as to the course of action should the house refuse to receive the senate farm bill on the ground that the debenture provision constitutes revenue legislation which the constitution directs the house to initiate. Should the house decline to receive the measure, it would be returned to the senate where a lengthy debate on the constitutional question is looked for.

McNary said he probably in the end would recommend the elimination of the debenture plan. He thought advocates of the proposal in the senate might agree to his suggestion if the house was determined not to receive the bill, and later attempt to tack it on the tariff bill.

The debenture clause as it stands in the farm bill merely gives the proposed farm board the option of the use of the debenture plan. Advocates of the proposal intend, however, to make use of the plan mandatory should they find it necessary to make an attempt to add it to the tariff bill.

ELECTION INQUIRY COMMITTEE NAMED

Senate Chooses Representatives for Joint Action With Assembly

Madison — (AP) — Sen. George W. Blanchard, Edgerton and Conrad Shearer, Kenosha, both Conservatives, were named today by the committee on committees to be senate representatives on the investigation board to study all Wisconsin campaign expenditures and practices since 1924. The investigation is authorized in the Nelson bill.

Senator Shearer is aligned with the administration, while Senator Blanchard was a strong supporter of former Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman in the election.

The assembly group, J. W. Smith and Moulton B. Con, Appleton Bay, Conservatives and Nelson, Washburn, Progressives, were named by Speaker Charles F. Perry. While listed as Conservatives, Assemblymen Carow and Goff, however, have voted consistently with the Perry-Reis combination.

The assemblymen were named to the committee last week.

TWO BURGLARS NABBED AT MENOMONEE FALLS

Menomonee Falls — (AP) — His curling aroused by a light which he saw burning in the Schmoey Clothing store here, Fred Luschek investigated early today and caused the arrest of two Chicago men, spoiling their plans for a $10,000 merchandise robbery.

The men, William Hartman, 29, and Edward Nelson, 31, are being held in the Waukesha-co jail pending an examination of a number of burglar tools found in their car.

DRY OFFICER KILLED IN PURSUIT OF AUTO

Washington — (AP) — A suspected rain running automobile today forced a car occupied by pursuing prohibition agents off the road where it crashed into a telegraph pole, fatally injuring Dano N. Jackley, 48, one of the veteran agents in the enforcement service. Three other dry agents who were in the automobile with Jackley escaped with slight injuries. The man they were pursuing, a Negro, escaped.

City Dog Ordinance Is Submitted To Referendum

Appleton will express its opinion on the dog ordinance as well as of the Riverview country club grounds, as a site for a new junior high school at the special election on Tuesday, June 4, the common council decided at an adjourned meeting at the city hall Monday night.

The resolution submitting the dog ordinance to a referendum was introduced by Alderman Philip Vogt, Sixth ward, and was adopted unanimously by the council.

The resolution reads:

"Resolved, that for the purpose of obtaining an expression from the citizens of Appleton, that the city clerk be instructed to have ballots printed setting forth the following question:

"Shall the city of Appleton continue to maintain the present dog ordinance?"

"And that the above question be submitted to the people on June 4."

The resolution passed without a single word of comment.

"I am convinced that the city will

FORMER GOVERNOR IS REINDICTED IN SOUTH

Jacksonville, Fla. — (AP) — Technical errors in the original bills against former Governor Sidney J. Catts, Bayshore minister of Defunk Springs, and four others has resulted in their reindictment by a federal grand jury on charges growing out of the alleged operation of a counterfeiting ring.

Others indicted with Florida's wartime governor were Julian Diaz, of Tampa, attorney, alleged head of the ring; his secretary, Miss Madeline Leah Burwell, Mateo Mir and Armando Dominguez, all of Tampa.

The original indictments charged alleged operation of counterfeiting rings at Tampa and Miami. The new action yesterday, however, was against Catts, Mir and Dominguez. The substitute indictments for Tampa name all five defendants.

Catts has been indicted "for aiding and abetting" in an alleged plot to place $5,000,000 worth of spurious $100 notes in circulation. The government charges that he put up the money for which it is alleged he was to have received $25,000 in counterfeiting bills for his investment.

HUGHES TAKES PLACE IN WORLD TRIBUNAL

The Hague — (AP) — Charles Evans Hughes, noted American jurist, has taken his place on the world court at the Hague for which he was unanimously selected some months ago.

In welcoming Mr. Hughes to the permanent court of international justice, President Loder said that the court was deeply pleased at the election of a man of his legal experience and would not fail to count upon his collaboration. The court members, he said, fully realized how much the appointment of Mr. Hughes enhanced the prestige and authority of the court in the United States.

The American jurist, thanking the president, said that he esteemed it a great privilege to participate in the court's work. Having always been a partisan of the creation of a real international tribunal, he would realize one of his ambitions if he could help the court by his individual effort in the discharge of its high duties.

DROP TO OUT OF 11 COUNTS AGAINST JUDGE

Oklahoma City, Okla. — (AP) — The senate court of impeachment today swept away 10 of the 11 articles of impeachment, preferred against Chief Justice Charles W. Mason of the state supreme court, leaving only one article, alleging that he accepted an automobile as a bribe, pending against him.

Noted Snake Authority Is Killed By Reptile

New York — (AP) — One of the world's leading authorities on snakes is dead, the victim of the infuriated mate of a rattlesnake he had just captured.

Charles E. Snyder, former head reptile keeper at the Bronx zoo and pupil of Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, zoo curator, died at Good Samaritan hospital, Suffern, N. Y., yesterday from the effects of a snake bite inflicted earlier in the day while he was hunting snakes in the Ramapo hills.

Snyder and a companion, Paul Snyder, no relative, were on Torm mountain, a region known to be infested with rattlers when the former zoo keeper came upon a large specimen.

He pinned its head with a forked stick and leaned over to pick it up. The mate of the snake, enraged

WRITS HALT LOCKOUT OF 75,000 IN NEW YORK

New York — (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Gargan today issued a temporary injunction restraining the Building Trades Employers' association from carrying out a lockout at 5 o'clock p. m. tomorrow of 75,000 employees.

The injunction was obtained by the United Cement and Concrete Workers union. It includes an order returnable Friday calling on the employers to show cause at that time why they should not be permanently enjoined from ordering a lockout.

Earlier today the judicial union removed the cause of the lockout, by agreeing to allow its members to work for three blacklisted electrical contractors. It was this boycott against the contractors that led to the dispute with the employers' association.

13 CANTON GUNBOATS JOIN INVADING FORCE

Canton, China — (AP) — Thirteen Canton gunboats in the Sikiang near Samshui have gone over to the invading Kwangsi armies and have inflicted heavy casualties in Canton troops in the neighborhood as revenge for Canton's rough treatment of revolting gun boats near the Shameen quarter.

DEBT PARLEY NOW AT ITS DECISIVE STAGE

Paris — (AP) — The decisive stage of the reparations experts conference has now arrived with the burden of the work of finding a compromise apparently falling on Sir Josiah Stamp of Great Britain, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German delegation, and Owen D. Young.

These three men conferred this morning. Sir Josiah and Dr. Schacht were to meet again later in the day to continue work on the German conditions for acceptance of the proposal made by Mr. Young.

It was expected that this will be completed tonight and that the report may be distributed tomorrow for consideration in a plenary session of the experts on Thursday.

Still Seek Bodies Of Two Missing Little Chute Men

LOWER WATER BY CLOSING GATES OF DAM

Find Coat of One of Victims in Tree Below Combined Locks Dam

It is doubtful as to whether the two Little Chute men who disappeared Sunday night have drowned when practically dispelled Tuesday morning when searchers found oars, a fish pole and the coat of one of the men at the boom at Combined Locks.

The pair, August Mollen and George Van Berkel, were last seen about 7:35 Sunday night in a small skiff in the tailrace below the Little Chute pulp mill and just north of the Combined Locks dam.

Acting on orders from the United States war department, the gates in the dam at Menasha were closed Monday afternoon and by Tuesday noon the water in the river where the searchers were dragging had dropped three and four feet. It is expected that the height of the water will be back at about a normal level late Tuesday afternoon and the men dragging the river expect they will be able to find the bodies then.

100 DRAG RIVER

As the water dropped the sluice gates at all power dams along the river as far as Little Chute were being closed and the only water which is now passing through the tail race where the men are believed to have drowned is that which passes through the power wheels.

Fifteen boats and about 100 men were still dragging the river Tuesday noon and they expect to remain at work until the bodies are found.

OFFICERS HELP

Anton Jansen, village president, and James Gerrits, chief of police, are supervising the dragging operations. They are being assisted by officers Gus Hernandez and John Pollock, who have considerable experience in this work. Police Chief George T. Prim has offered the assistance of his department to the Little Chute authorities.

The first alarm was given early Monday morning when it was learned that neither of the men had come home at night. Dragging of the river started after a small boat, which was known to have been in the boat occupied by the two men, was found at the boom at Combined Locks. At first some doubt was expressed as to whether the men were drowned but the finding Tuesday morning of the fish pole and the oars at the boom at Combined Locks have settled the matter as to their fate.

According to Mr. Jansen, the coat was found in the branches of a tree below the Combined Locks dam.

While both men are known to have been excellent swimmers it is believed that the boat overturned and one or the other was seized with cramps and his partner died in an effort to save him. This is the theory held by the village authorities.

Both men were fathers of four children.

The entire families of both men have been standing vigil on the banks of the river awaiting some word from the parties of searchers.

CROWDS WAIT

Word of the double tragedy spread rapidly and early Monday afternoon the roads about the river were lined with automobiles and spectators. Relief crews of men keep changing places in the boats and the searching continues without a stop.

Several of the boats have been equipped with outboard motors and they are covering considerably more territory in this manner.

Van Berkel and Mollen had been out fishing and when last seen it was thought they had started for shore. No alarm was felt until Monday morning when it was learned they had not been home all night. Van Berkel is a government employee and Mollen is a carpenter.

BODY RECOVERED

Green Bay — (AP) — The body of George Goeben, 70, of this city, was taken from the Fox river late Monday, after several charges of dynamite had been used to bring it to the surface.

Goeben had been missing from his home about a mile from the river, since Saturday morning, and a search for his body was started after his handkerchief was found on the bank about 1,000 feet upstream from the point where the body was recovered.

Coroner Frank Hodek is conducting an investigation to ascertain whether the drowning was due to accident or suicide. Goeben had been in ill health for several years.

COAST DOCTOR VISITS BROTHER IN APPLETON

Dr. F. E. Bolton of the University of Washington, Seattle, spent the weekend at the home of his brother, Dr. E. L. Bolton in this city. Dr. Bolton was on his way back to Seattle after an eastern speaking tour for the Northwestern Educational association. He spoke at Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Syracuse, and Ann Arbor, Mich., and on Tuesday spoke at the Milwaukee State Teachers college.

TEACHER, STRUCK BY CAR, IS RECOVERING

Miss Edith Small, girls' physical education director at Appleton high school, is recovering from injuries received Saturday noon when she was struck by a car as she was crossing Pacific at the corner of Pacific and Lemhi streets. Miss Small had just stepped out of a car to go into the girls' greenhouse when the accident happened. She was cut over the eye and bruised about the face, but after receiving medical attention at a doctor's office was able to return to her home.

Bulgarians Rejoice In 50th Year Of Freedom

Sofia, Bulgaria. — (AP) — Tens of thousands of Bulgarians from the most remote towns and villages of the little kingdom were here today to participate in the fiftieth anniversary of Bulgaria's liberation from secular Turkish rule.

Coming in ox carts, wheelbarrows, on donkeys and horses and dressed in quaint multicolored national costumes, the legions of peasants presented an animated picture. Municipal authorities could not provide accommodations for all the visitors and many of them are sleeping in

Armaments Bring Wars, Bishop Says

United Brethren Chief Believes Prohibition Law Will Remain

LANCASTER, Pa. — (AP) — Armaments are provocative of war, Bishop William M. Bell, senior bishop of the United Brethren church in Christ, told the quadrennial conference of the church today in sounding a call for disarmament of militarism. The bishop saw improvement in prohibition and the divorce situation. After serving more than two decades, Bishop Bell will retire at the close of the convention.

Devoting the major portion of his talk to disarmament, he said: "Armaments do not assure peace. Preparation to commit crime is no deterrent of crime. Lead a man with guns and he is sure to fight. Begone with the deluding sophistry that military appropriations are a peace measure. The lying deceptions of an armed peace is dying before the eyes of the world today. Beyond doubt war preparations are provocative of war. Instead of armaments being a force of national insurance, they are a drag toward barbarism."

He predicted the eighteenth amendment would never be repealed.

"Prohibition is no nightmare to America's soul," the bishop declared, "but is the result of years of education and moral training."

Of divorce he believed "sound thinking and morals are coming to the rescue with eager haste and devotion."

CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER; 2 DROWNED

Third Man Saved After Machine Goes Under Ferry Cable

Merrimack. — (AP) — Two Mineral Point men were drowned and a third narrowly escaped early today when the automobile in which they were riding went through the ferry cable here and plunged into the Wisconsin river. The dead are Urban Gillman and Michael Jackson. John Vivian was pulled from the water by John Bonham, ferryman.

Merrimack is a ferry point across the Wisconsin river on state highway 113, and is approximately 33 miles north of Madison.

A crew of men was dragging the river today seeking to recover the automobile and the two bodies. Because the ferry is owned jointly by Columbia and Sauk counties, authorities from both counties were investigating the drownings today.

According to Bonham, the ferry was moored to the north bank of the river and he was asleep in the cabing, being awakened by the rasp of the breaking cable and the splash of the automobile into the river, which is 40 to 50 feet deep at that point.

The car, authorities said, had been stolen.

NINTH GRADERS GUESTS AT SOPHOMORE MEETING

Ninth graders of Wilson, Roosevelt and McKinley junior high schools were guests at the meeting of the Sophomore Triangle club of Appleton high school at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. The youngsters were told of the requisites for admission to the club and the program was outlined. C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary of the association, was in charge of the meeting.

salary basis rather than on a commission. It was eventually learned that the ordinance was in conformity with a state law so far as remuneration is concerned, so the mayor finally made the appointment.

Many dog owners then rose up in arms. About a week ago a group of dog owners organized the One Absolutely Unselfish Friend club, the purpose of which is to work for repeal of the dog ordinance. Attorney A. H. Krugmeier is president of the new organization.

Following the organization meeting, petitions protesting against the ordinance were placed in circulation. The petitions, it is understood will be presented to the council at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

In the meantime, petitions beseeching the council to uphold the ordinance also were placed in circulation. Hundreds of signatures have been secured for both petitions, it is reported.

The new ordinance on licenses proposed for addition to the city's revised ordinances was referred by the council to the ordinance committee and ordered published.

The council received a communication from the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Co., asking for passage of an ordinance permitting the railroad company to change a spur track serving the Standard manufacturing Co. The communication was referred to the street and bridge committee.

Mr. Clark will make an announcement of the summer scout camp region.

SWEDEN O. K.'S GENERAL ACT OF ARBITRATION

Geneva. — (AP) — The so-called general act of arbitration adopted at the last assembly of the League of Nations seems destined to meet better success than the defunct Geneva protocol.

Today Sweden deposited with the league its accession to the act. Norway and Belgium are expected to do likewise soon and the French parliament is now discussing the document.

The Geneva protocol closed a gap in the covenant of the league by which war became possible through failure of unanimity of the council and provided for penalties against an aggressor nation. The general act covers all possible disputes but provides no system of penalties.

MILWAUKEE COUNCIL MEETS TO DISCUSS GRAND JURY PROBE

Special Meeting This Afternoon May Result in City Investigation

Milwaukee. — (AP) — A special meeting of the city council was called at 2 o'clock p. m. today to receive and act on a proposed resolution that is expected to start a thorough investigation of the city government in the light of charges of abuses made by the recent county grand jury.

It is thought that the measure will be referred to the council's finance committee which has deferred its regular Tuesday meeting to Friday. An attorney not attached to the city or district attorney's office is to be engaged to prosecute the investigation under the terms of the resolution, it has been learned.

Meanwhile J. W. Disch, city real estate expert, who accepted more than $18,000 in fees for the Milwaukee road while in the city's employ, and drew a brunt of the grand jury's fire, late yesterday refused to resign as was demanded by Mayor Daniel W. Hoan in a letter earlier in the day.

Disch said that he is ready to quit if the common council should ask him to do so after the aldermanic probe has been completed. However, he said that he will not do so until the whole story of what occurred in the mayor's office when "outside employment" was discussed is told.

"It's politics," said Mr. Disch. "Others want to save themselves and I refuse to be the scapegoat."

The mayor admitted that he had given Disch permission to undertake the purchase of property for the Milwaukee road, because he believed it to be for the public good. However, he said that he was pained when he learned of the extent of the fees that the latter had received and that he had not submitted his plans to the city council while the mayor was in Europe.

MAYOR NOT INSISTENT

Furthermore the mayor was never very insistent that the transaction be before the city council, Mr. Disch said. At the same time he admitted that when the mayor asked

Use Dance Pavilion For Woman's Murder Trial

Columbia, Calif. — (AP) — An elevated dance pavilion just off the main street of this frontier mining town was turned into a courtroom today for the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Eva Brandon Rablen, Texas "mail order bride" charged with the murder of her husband, Carroll Rablen, Sonora, Calif., farmer.

Widespread interest in the case brought scores of Tuolumne-co residents to the hearing. It is the first murder case in this township in 18 years. Tuolumne-co was famous for its frontier justice during the early history of California, and more than 250 men are said to have died here with their boots on.

Justice of the Peace J. W. Pitts chose the dance pavilion for the hearing when he learned that his office would not hold all those who desired to attend.

Seventeen months ago Mrs. Eva Brandon came from Quindab, Tex., as the result of negotiations through a matrimonial agency and married Rablen. April 26, last, Rablen died in agony after having received a cup of coffee from Mrs. Rablen at a dance in Tuttletown, Calif., near here. The cup was found to have contained a deadly drug mixed in the coffee. Crystals of the poison were found on the floor of the automobile in which Rablen sat as he drank the coffee.

As Mrs. Rablen was carrying the coffee to her husband she brushed against another woman and spilled some of the coffee. It made a stain on Mrs. Rablen's dress. The stain was examined by E. O. Heinrich, noted criminologist, but his findings were not made public. It was Heinrich who reported finding the poison in the coffee cup and in the automobile.

Mrs. Rablen maintains that her husband committed suicide.

CALLES REMAINS SILENT REGARDING HIS FUTURE

Mexico City. — (AP) — The expected public statement of General Plutarco Elias Calles as to his plans for the future has not materialized.

Late last evening the foreign correspondents called upon him at his house near Chapultepec castle, as he indicated they might do when he arrived Sunday.

The correspondents were told, however, that the former president and minister of war had "nothing to say to newspapermen" and that any announcement involving him or his plans for the future would have to come from President Emilio Portes Gil.

LONG FACING SENATE COURT FOR HEARING

Louisiana Governor Challenges Validity of 7 Impeachment Counts

BULLETIN

Baton Rouge, La. — (AP) — Governor Huey P. Long today appeared at the bar of the state senate to answer the impeachment charges of high crimes and misdemeanors. He was accompanied by nine attorneys.

The state senate was expected to offer as his defense, a challenge of the validity of seven of the impeachment counts. He will appear before the court after a statewide speaking tour in which he carried before the people his denunciation of the Standard Oil company, which, he said, was at the bottom of the impeachment move and the press of the state for fighting his proposed occupational tax on miners' oil.

The governor was expected to offer as his defense, a challenge of the validity of seven of the impeachment counts. He will appear before the court after a statewide speaking tour in which he carried before the people his denunciation of the Standard Oil company, which, he said, was at the bottom of the impeachment move and the press of the state for fighting his proposed occupational tax on miners' oil.

Mr. Long will contend that each count except that charging intimidation of a newspaper publisher is invalid on the ground that they were recorded after the special legislative session, called by him, ended April 6. He will not contest the legality of the one charge because it was adopted on the last day of the session in the house and was returned to the senate the same night before the hour for sine die adjournment.

The charges facing the governor today are, briefly:

That he sought to intimidate C. P. Manship, Baton Rouge newspaper publisher, for opposing his oil tax; that he attempted to bribe two house members with jobs and "bank fixing" that he misused state funds.

His first bitter break was the severance of relations with Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr, chairman of the state board of pardons, over the LeBouef-Dreher hearing case. One of the late outstanding breaks was a parting of the ways with Col. Robert Ewing, Democratic national committeeman.

Then the legislature, which he called to pass the tax on oil, turned against him and remained in session long enough to impeach him.

ROLLIE WILLIAMS NOW HEAD COACH AT IOWA

Iowa City, Iowa. — (AP) — Roland Williams, a member of the University of Iowa coaching staff since 1924, was named Monday night as head coach to succeed Justin M. Barry, who will take a similar position at the University of Southern California.

Appointment of Williams was announced by the Iowa athletic council upon his return from Milwaukee, where he was conferring with Marquette university officials regarding a similar offer there.

The new Hawkeye mentor came here after a year of coaching at James Milliken university, Decatur, Ill. At the University of Wisconsin he was a nine letter athlete.

and that he is generally incompetent to fulfill the duties of his office.

SECRET ABOUT DEFENSE

The court met at noon today with Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill of the state supreme court, presiding and the committee of impeachment managers from the lower house prosecuting. Upon adoption of rules for the trial, the senate court decided that Mr. Long should be permitted to file demurrers to any and all charges on technical test but up until today nothing definite has been learned of the form of the executive's defense procedure, but, his friends have indicated that he will present the illegality plea.

The youthful governor's warring political career which brought him before the bar of the senate today has been colorful.

He fought what he termed the "old gang" politics of New Orleans and was swept into office by a heavy rural vote which took into consideration the withdrawal from a run-off primary of Congressman Riley J. Wilson, his nearest opponent in the gubernatorial race.

His first bitter break was the severance of relations with Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr, chairman of the state board of pardons, over the LeBouef-Dreher hearing case. One of the late outstanding breaks was a parting of the ways with Col. Robert Ewing, Democratic national committeeman.

RIPON PREPARES FOR CELEBRATION OF G. O. P. IN JUNE

Principal Address Will Be Delivered by James W.
Good, Secretary of War

Ripon, which lays claim to the birthplace of the Republican party, will be the scene of a diamond jubilee celebration on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8. Republican leaders from all over the country will be present, and the Honorable James W. Good, secretary of War, will deliver the principal address at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 8.

President Herbert Hoover is honorary chairman and Governor Walter J. Kohler is honorary vice chairman of the celebration. Hon. Roy E. Reed, Ripon, is national chairman.

Chairmen of the executive committee are Hon. George V. V. Maniwooc, and Mrs. Harry E. Thomas, Sheboygan. Three Appleton persons, G. E. Buchanan, F. J. Harwood, and William H. Zuehlke are on the committee. Other members from nearby cities are: William H. Miner, Menasha; George Whiting, Mrs. L. J. Pinkerton, Mrs. W. Z. Stuart, and F. J. Sensenbrenner, Neenah; and William H. Hutton, New London.

"The Republican party was born in Ripon, Wis., March 20, 1854; was christened by the state convention at Jackson, Mich., July 6, was nourished and grew in strength and power by the help it received from many other state conventions and arrived at the age of maturity when the National convention met in Philadelphia on June 17, 1856," the jubilee program points out.

"For many years Ripon has claimed the distinction of being the birthplace of the Republican party. This claim has been challenged by other localities, none of which have presented evidence indicating that an organized party sensed the idea of a new party as early as did the sturdy Ripon pioneers who held their first meeting in February of the year 1854."

The program will open at 8 o'clock Friday evening, June 7, with a historical pageant, "A New Birth of Freedom," at the Ripon gymnasium. The pageant, which includes a cast of 500 characters, was written and directed by Prof. H. P. Boody, director of dramatics and pageantry of Ripon college.

GRUNDEMAN PLACED ON RETIRED OFFICER LIST

Capt. Erwin F. Grundeman, former captain of Co. D, 327th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, will be placed on the retired list with abolition of the headquarters of the 22nd cavalry division of the Wisconsin National Guard on July 1, when the headquarters staff is reduced to 10 officers. The entire staff will be abolished by July 1, 1930. It is said, as part of the war department's plan to abolish all cavalry division staffs. In many cases however, the officers will be returned to active duty.

Capt. Grundeman was placed on the cavalry staff in April, 1928, at which time he relinquished command of Co. D.

HEINEMANN TO TALK TO SCOUT LEADERS

Judge Fred Heinemann will be the principal speaker at the seventh weekly session of the Valley Council scout leaders' training conference at Armory G at 7:30 Wednesday evening. He will talk on the juvenile court and present day dangers and temptations facing youngsters. Reports of patrol leaders will be read and other regular conference business matters will be transacted.

APPLETON TEAM WILL BROADCAST AT DEPERE

ASK INQUIRY IN SHOOTING BY OFFICERS

Governor Byrd of Virginia
Petitioned to Probe
Student's Death

Richmond, Va.—(P)—Citizens of Washington, D. C., joined today with the student body of Emory and Henry college in petitioning Gov. Harry Flood Byrd to investigate the fatal shooting of J. W. Kendrick, 17, Emory and Henry student, by law enforcement officers in an automobile chase near Washington.

The officers who shot Kendrick were James Creynolds, Abingdon policeman, and James Crowe and J. W. Worley, Washington county deputy sheriffs. They said they had received complaints that Kendrick's companions, Sterling Dutton and Paul Phelps, were drinking and disorderly, and that the car ignored an order to stop. They declared they did not know Kendrick was in the machine.

DENY THEY DRANK
After the shooting Phelps and Dutton were arrested but denied they had been drinking. The three officers were arrested and placed under $5,000 bonds each after they had waived preliminary hearing.

The student body of Emory and Henry college petitioned Governor Byrd to investigate the affair, pointing out that the shooting was "a piece of indiscriminate play in Washington, D. C., and that the officers who shot Kendrick were drinking and disorderly, and that the car ignored an order to stop. They declared they did not know Kendrick was in the machine."

"With the constantly increasing frequency in the past year," the citizens' petition said, "these agents of the people have been indulging in promiscuous and indiscriminate gun play, adopting as a matter of course the practice of shooting at automobiles, the wholesale stopping without warrants of private automobiles for the purpose of searching them, and the general terrorization of highways throughout this section from dusk to dawn."

Governor Byrd announced last yesterday, after receiving advice from the attorney general, that the case was one for the Washington courts to handle. He had not yet received the citizens' petition.

LIKE WALTONS RECEIVE PHEASANT EGG SHIPMENT

The local chapter of the Izak Walton league has received a shipment of 60 pheasant eggs which are to be hatched on farms in various parts of Outagamie county, according to Richard Sykes, president of the local chapter. Several local members of the league will distribute them to the operating farmers within the next few days. The eggs were procured from the state pheasant hatcheries at Fish Creek.

The local chapter has ordered approximately 500 pheasant eggs which will be distributed in this section of the state during the coming summer months as one of its major projects, according to Mr. Sykes. Arrangements are now being made for the disposition of the eggs among farmers.

COMPLETE Y. M. C. A. SWIMMING SCHEDULE

The summer swimming schedule for the Y. M. C. A. has been arranged by A. P. Jensen, physical director. The swimming pool is to be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9:30 at night and will be under the supervision of an expert swimming instructor.

From 5:15 to 6 and from 8:15 to 10 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday evenings beginners will use an association tank. During the week on Mondays and Fridays advanced and life saving classes will be conducted, according to Mr. Jensen.

BAND FESTIVAL TO BE STAGED JUNE 16

The annual band festival of musical organizations of Greenleaf, Wrightstown, Brillion, Hilbert, Chilton, Elkhardt Lake and Plymouth will be held at the Northeastern Wisconsin fair grounds at De Pere on Sunday, June 16. Last year's festival was held at High Cliff. Thousands of people are expected to attend this year's events and a special program is being arranged for the occasion.

ATHLETIC OFFICERS FOR CO. D ARE NAMED

Lieut. Hubert J. Piette and Sgt. Valdemar Klein of Co. D, 127th Infantry have been named athletic officers of the company for the annual National Guard camp Williams this summer. The men also will be named first battalion athletic officers by Major Frederick W. Hoffman, and will look after athletic teams in the battalion while in camp. Practically all companies enter teams in football competition each summer while many others enter men in the 127th-128th regiment track team, the Friday before camp ends. Last year Co. D, football team was runner-up in the quest for the football title.

T. L. Heid and Henry Klepper spent Tuesday in Marinette.

GHETTO CHILDREN MORE HARDY THAN THOSE AMONG ELITE

Chicago—(P)—Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissioner of health, has found that children of the gold coast, dwelling place of Chicago's elite, are less likely to reach the age of one year than the thickly settled 24th ward, or ghetto. "In the 24th ward," Dr. Kegel said, "there is a population of 62,000 persons to one square mile, yet the death rate among infants is lower than on the gold coast, with a population of 52,342 to an area of 1.64 miles."

The 24th ward, Dr. Kegel points out, is composed almost entirely of Jewish families. "These families adhere to the old tradition of natural baby feeding and it is to this I attribute the low death rate," he said.

GRAMM FACES TRIAL UNDER TARIFF ACT IN 'TRUNK INCIDENT'

Not Explanation Given for Change from Prohibition
Law Prosecution

Jacksonville, Fla.—(P)—The recent "trunk incident" which brought Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson of Chicago, to trial and acquittal in federal court on charges of violation of the prohibition laws, today was the basis of an indictment against the legislator's brother-in-law, Walter Gramm.

Dubbed by Michaelson's prosecutors at his trial ten days ago, as the "cat out," Gramm was the defense star witness claiming ownership of trunks which were said to have leaked liquor in a Jacksonville, Fla., railroad station, and which were tagged "Michaelson."

A true bill returned here yesterday had its charges based on that admission of ownership. Although Gramm was indicted on charges of violating the tariff act, the legislator was tried on charges of transporting liquor in violation of the prohibition act.

Gramm, a coal dealer, was said in the indictment to have facilitated transportation and concealment of a shipment of liquor from Havana to Key West and thence to Jacksonville, where federal agents said it sprung a leak which led to detection. It was not explained why the tariff act was cited, instead of the prohibition law.

At the Michaelson trial Gramm readily admitted ownership of the trunks, but stood on his constitutional rights and refused to say whether they contained liquor. Michaelson said the trunks belonged to a member of his party which had come in from Cuba under congressional privilege, but disclaimed ownership himself.

2 FRATERNITY MEN FIRED FOR PARTIES

Northwestern Frats Suspended for Serving Gin-Spiked Punch

Evansville, Ind.—(P)—Gin-spiked punch was served at stag smokers, was given today as the reason for the expulsion of two fraternity presidents and the suspension of the organizations by the board of supervisors of student activities at Northwestern university.

Rolley P. Myers and James C. Austin, presidents respectively, of Phi Phi and Phi Delta fraternities, were those expelled from the university and their fraternities suspended. The expulsions and suspensions were ordered last night by the supervisors after evidence had been presented that alcohol had been poured into punch given by the fraternities in each other's honor.

Myers, desk editor of the Daily Northwestern, student in the school of speech, and member of the sophomore student council, was held responsible for the Phi Phi party, while Austin, a senior in the school of journalism who expected to be graduated next month, was blamed for the Phi Delta Delta reciprocal smoker. Myers' home is in Zeigler, Ill., and Austin's is in Highland Park, Ill.

Members of the faculty were present at each smoker, the supervisors were told at the four-hour session, and partook of the punch.

SCHLINTZ WILL TELL KIWANIS ABOUT C. C.

NO ROUGHNECK COP ELIGIBLE FOR JOB IN GOLD COAST AREA

Chicago—(P)—Deputy U. S. Marshal John J. Oros the pride of the force, came to the office today all dressed up and 3,500 places to go.

Always sartorial perfection, his resplendent figure today attracted especial admiration in the federal building corridors and inquiries from his fellow deputies, was he to be married today? Then Deputy Marshal Oros made known his high commission.

"I have several deputies who can serve subpoenas," Marshal Henry Laubheimer observed the other day. "Gorillas who can meet the tough ones and others adapted to almost any situation. But, alas, who am I to send to the gold coast? Oros, have you a dress suit?"

Oros had and won the commission to serve 3,500 subpoenas on residents of the Gold Coast, summoned to appear at the trial of a suit brought by alleged heirs of Captain George Wellington Streeter, who seek to evict the present residents and collect $5,000,000 for the lake front property Streeter claimed as his by squatter sovereignty.

1,400 PUPILS WILL WRITE FINAL EXAMS

Rural Students to Take Tests at Seven Central Points on Saturday

A class of sixth, seventh and eighth grade rural school students, estimated at 1,400 will write final examinations Saturday morning at seven centers in the county, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Meating and his assistants were busy this week preparing examination questions and papers and making arrangements for the examinations.

Following is a list of the centers where examinations will be written and the names of the persons who will be in charge: Kaukauna, Misses Laverne Ellis and Margaret Phillips, teachers in the Outagamie Rural Normal school; Seymour, W. P. Hagman, principal of the county normal school; Black Creek, Principal George Tartar; Shiloh, Principal Doris Washburn; Bear Creek, Miss Nellie McDermott, supervising teacher; Appleton, Mr. Meating; Hortonville, A. L. Collar, supervising teacher.

Students who live in the vicinity of the centers will gather at each of the seven places to write their final examinations. Preparations for the examinations are being made in all the rural schools this week. Most of the schools will close this week or next week.

OFFER PRIZES FOR 4-H CLUB MEMBERS

At a special meeting of the Outagamie County Guernsey Breeder's association Monday night at the office of Gus Sell, county agent, at the courthouse the group voted to offer several prizes to 4-H clubs in the county. A fountain pen and an eversharp pencil will be given for first and second prizes, respectively, for the best Guernsey calf record book; a $10 scholarship to send a delegate to a 4-H club camp is offered to the club having the largest membership rating Guernsey calves on June 1; and a copy of the 4-H Trail, a helpful book on club work, will be awarded to every leader who gets more than one-half of the membership of his club to enter their Guernsey calves as exhibits at some fair last June. There must be at least three Guernseys shown from his club.

Members of the Outagamie County Holstein Breeder's association are offering similar prizes to 4-H club members with Holstein calves.

INVALID OBSERVES HER NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

An invalid for 14 years, Mrs. Mary DeGuire, S. Jackson st., observed her ninetieth birthday anniversary in bed Monday. Friends and neighbors called throughout the day and Mrs. DeGuire received many gifts. Despite her confining illness, Mrs. DeGuire takes an active interest in the happenings of the world and reads the daily papers. She has been a resident of Appleton for 60 years.

Her mother, Mrs. DeGuire's sons visited their mother on Mother's Day. They were Louis of Algoma, Alex of Milwaukee, Phillip of Green Bay and Joseph of Manitowish. A daughter, Miss Alma DeGuire, lives at home.

START ENFORCEMENT OF 90-MINUTE PARKING LAW

Police Monday again started enforcing the 90-minute parking limit law which is in effect on College-ave and eight persons were caught in the act. The eight were taken into court Tuesday morning, but Judge Theodore Berg dismissed them with a warning to observe the law more closely in the future.

The judge pointed out that those who were brought into court in the future would be fined.

Police Chief George T. Prim said that from Monday on every day to check cars parking on College-ave and all offenders against the time-limit regulations would be taken into court.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE; SAYS MATE WAS CRUEL

Mrs. Jennie Lapp, 63, 1109 N. Appleton st., received an absolute divorce from her husband, Jay Lapp, 57, Eagle River, in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Monday afternoon. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment. Mr. Lapp did not contest the suit and the judge granted Mrs. Lapp $20 per month alimony. The Lapps were married on Aug. 1, 1910, at Spencer, Wis., and separated March 29, 1929.

ocean, but the plans to leave at 6:30 a. m. (12:30 a. m. eastern standard time) were called off at the last moment because of the question of the permission to fly over France.

"They'll get it, I suppose," Dr. Eckener said, "but they'll do it with gnashing teeth."

All messages for the airship will be communicated by the Norddeich station for the first half of the voyage and by the Chatham, England, station for the second half.

SECRET MESSAGES
A ciphering and deciphering machine to guard the secrecy of passenger's private radio messages, and the machine's inventor will be aboard the Graf Zeppelin on its flight toward America tomorrow.

The inventor is Alexander von Kryha, native Ukrainian, who fled his own country at the time of the Bolshevik uprising there. His machine was that which insured privacy of newspaper dispatches on the first transatlantic flights of the Zeppelin. The ciphering device sends a succession of letters unintelligible to anyone save possessors of the deciphering apparatus. The device is used throughout the Marconi system and the by American War department.

GORILLA NOT FOR ZOO

New York—(P)—Louis Ruhe, New York animal dealer, denied today that the gorilla to come to the United States on the Graf Zeppelin is consigned to the Chicago zoo.

Ruhe said the animal was being sent to him here from his agent near Hanover. The gorilla was captured in the Congo, he said, and was to be sent here with the hope that it could be sold to the Chicago zoo.

However the cost of bringing it over on the Graf, together with a higher rate of insurance may boost its price up above what the zoo can pay, Ruhe said. The animal is 24 inches high, sitting, he stated.

COLLEGE FIGHT IS TAKEN TO BUFFALO

They said they might return to school "when the trustees officially reopen it."

Dean Callaway indicated that the principal point of attack he and Mr. Stevens would make to the Bible union would be against continued control of school administration by Dr. Shields and Miss Rehman. He said the deans were willing to sign the trustees' resolution, adopted Saturday, clearing Dr. Shields and Miss Rehman of charges of indiscretions, but that they had been given no opportunity to do so.

"The faculty was satisfied on that point," he said. "Now we are going to insist on a hearing of the other matter regarding Dr. Shields and Miss Rehman's interference in faculty affairs."

Curtalement of student social privileges also would be gone into, Mr. Stevens said.

There was a minor demonstration against Miss Rehman when she entered last night. A small group of undergraduates sang a song ending, "Rah, rah, George Washington," the song which was said to have provoked feeling between Canadian and American students.

The students also hissed as the car in which Miss Rehman rode pulled past them.

WAS IN ACCIDENT
Miss Rehman was knocked down by a taxicab as she left her hotel and slightly injured.

One of Miss Rehman's last public statements here was a denial that she was anti-American or that she had interfered with the raising on the campus of the American flag.

"There isn't a bit of truth in the report," she said. "I am a Canadian citizen, but in my five years of residence in the United States I defy any person to cite any instance wherein I have been disloyal to the Stars and Stripes."

Dean Callaway said before his departure that he would attempt to present to the Bible union convention charges that Miss Rehman maintained an espionage system to check on professors' class room activities. He said allegations of a pro-Canadian attitude on the part of Miss Rehman, a faculty member and some students also would be advanced.

Dr. Wayman declined to comment on charges made yesterday in Toronto by Dr. Shields that the outbreak at the school was "to divert attention from an investigation into Dr. Wayman's degrees."

"I will ignore any attacks made upon me by Dr. Shields," the university president said.

CUSTOM OFFICERS SAVE MAN'S LIFE, THEN ARREST HIM

New York—(P)—Customs enforcement officers are not a bad sort, Michael Dillon has learned.

Two of them jumped into the Hudson river to save Dillon's life when his boat overturned and later when they stretched him out on the dock, wet and chilled they poured liquor down his throat.

The customs officers had been lying in wait for Dillon and two companions who were suspected of having liquor cargoes in their row boats. John Duffy and Patrick Sheehan, who were in one boat, landed safely but were arrested. Dillon, who was a bit behind, saw the officers and tried to escape but his boat was caught in a back wash and upset.

Dillon caught on to a floating log and cried for help. Two of the officers, George Boehm and George Brune, stripped off their outer clothing, plunged in and rescued him. The liquor given Dillon was taken from his companions. Dillon also was arrested.

GUARDSMEN START RANGE WORK SUNDAY

Members of Co. D Will Qualify in Use of Pistol and Machine Gun

Fourteen members of Co. D, 127th infantry have been ordered to report on the company's outdoor range Sunday, for instruction in machine gun work. The order marks the opening of the company's outdoor range this summer and machine guns and pistols will be fired weekly until the unit goes to Camp Williams in July. The company range is located on the Jack Horne farm, northwest of Appleton.

Men who will fire Sunday include Harold H. Hammer, Walter Berg, Orville Munster, Floyd Dunsen, Roger Harrmann, Robert Currie, Earl Zuehlke, John Hancock, Oliver Tracy, Leonard Ryan, Clarence Christy, James Kerrigan, Albert Neuenfeldt, and Gordon McIntyre.

Last year more than half the members of the company qualified for ratings with the machine gun and pistol. Instruction will be in charge of the company officers, Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder, and Lieutenants Hubert J. Piette and William M. Donovan.

CANADIAN ROADS TO MEET ACTION IN U. S.

Prepare to Take Similar Steps on Flour Rates, Announcement Says

Montreal, Que.—(P)—Whatever action is taken by United States railroads on the question of reduced rates for flour will be met by Canadian carriers, it was officially announced today at the offices of the Canadian railways here.

The announcement follows: "Canadian railroads have reduced rates on lake bulk wheat export from bay ports to Montreal and Atlantic ports in proportion to the same extent as rates have been reduced by United States carriers from Buffalo to Atlantic ports for export."

"The United States carriers still have in hand the question of reduction in rates on wheat flour for export and whatever action is ultimately taken by them will be met by Canadian carriers. The matter is being held in abeyance in the meantime and no definite announcement can be made."

MAN CLAIMS HE DIDN'T ASSAULT KAW RESIDENT

Julius H. Spletter, Appleton, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery when he was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday morning on charges preferred by E. G. Grebe, Kaukauna, and his preliminary hearing was set for May 22. He furnished $50 bonds. Grebe charged Spletter attacked him in Kaukauna last week and struck him several times. Spletter was arrested by Lothar Kemp, deputy sheriff.

WHITE BASS START RUN IN WOLF RIVER WATERS

The annual spring run of white bass has started in the Wolf river, according to fishing enthusiasts and a hundred of fishermen from all over the valley have been flocking to Fremont, Gills Landing and other lower river points where bag limits daily are being caught. The run started about ten days earlier than usual, according to reports. Bass now being caught in the Wolf river near Fremont are mostly Poygan bass. The run of Lake Winnebago bass is not expected for another two weeks.

CORRESPONDENT TO BROADCAST 'ATTACK'

National Broadcasting Official Will Detail Aerial War Over Radio

Dayton, O.—(P)—Aerial attack on Cincinnati by enemy planes in the war maneuvers scheduled starting here tomorrow will be described by a war correspondent riding in a specially equipped plane above the combat planes.

The "war correspondent," will be O. B. Hanson, manager of the plant operations department of the National Broadcasting company and his words will be spoken into a specially constructed microphone in the plane and broadcast from a 400 kilocycle transmitter aboard the ship.

They will be picked up by a specially constructed receiver located at station WLW, Cincinnati, and there re-routed onto the N. B. C. network. The description of the aerial maneuvers will cover the air attack on Cincinnati and the defensive tactics of the planes assigned to protect the city from invaders. It is scheduled to start Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m. eastern standard time.

Plans for "bombing" New York in connection with the air maneuvers and which attack is scheduled for May 21, also is to be broadcast through similar arrangements. The time of broadcasting to be about 8 o'clock eastern daylight saving time.

CLAIMS AD MEN FAIL TO HELP RETAILERS

Chicago—(P)—Advertising departments of metropolitan newspapers are of no assistance to retailers so far as advice is concerned, Kenneth Collins, vice president of the R. H. Macy company, New York, declared today before newspaper executives here to attend the annual convention of the International Advertising association.

Mr. Collins charged that newspaper advertising men solicit accounts on the basis of personal friendship; that they usually know little or nothing about the retailer's business and are not infrequently ignorant of their own business.

"There is only one reason why advertising lineage should be placed," he said, "and that is because of a sincere, honest conviction on the part of the advertiser that the medium he has selected is the best one for his purpose. The man who should be able to point out to us the absurdities that we are constantly guilty of."

The opening session of the general advertising convention is to be tonight with Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, presiding. Mr. Strong is president of the association's board of trustees.

500 BACK TO WORK

LITTLE CHUTERS ENTERTAIN WITH RADIO PROGRAM

Send Band and Soloists to Milwaukee to Entertain from Air

Radio fans who tune in on Station WTMM from 9 to 10 o'clock Wednesday evening will hear a concert broadcast by the Little Chute band under direction of Edward F. Mumm. They also will hear an address by Anton Jansen, president of the village of Little Chute.

This program will be the nineteenth of the series of Wisconsin Community programs presented weekly from the Milwaukee broadcasting station.

The Little Chute band was organized about six years ago but it was only three years ago that the residents of the village voted by a huge majority to make the organization permanent. Permanence was assured when the voters approved a referendum providing a sum equal to an assessment of one-quarter of a mill on each dollar of assessed valuation. This money pays the expenses of the band.

During the summer the band plays periodical outdoor concerts and furnishes music for village celebrations. Within the last year, since the group became a member of the Fox River Valley Band association, new uniforms were acquired.

Since its organization the band has been directed by Mr. Mumm who also is director of the 120th Field Artillery and the Elk bands of Appleton.

In addition to the band numbers the program to be broadcast by Little Chute representatives will include several vocal and instrumental solos.

Two numbers by the band will open the program. "March of the Prophets" and "Chicago Police Band March" have been selected. R. H. Peeters will play a baritone horn solo, "Air Variations," and this will be followed by a novelty number by the band, "Down on the Farm."

Miss Florence Roate, soprano, will sing two numbers, "Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

President Jansen will give his talk outlining the disadvantages of the Fox river valley. This will be followed by a clarinet duet, "Eleanora Polka," played by William Mahs and Charles Peters, accompanied by the band. The band will then play "Spirit of Progress" and "Cloth of Gold" and the program will be closed by a novelty number, "Them Basses."

A special bus has been chartered to take the band to Milwaukee. The group will be guests of the Shorewood advancement association at a dinner Wednesday night in Shorewood.

RAIL OFFICIALS HERE FOR INSPECTION TOUR

NEED ANALYTICAL MIND TO BE LAWYER

Lawrence Graduate Tells Students What They Can Expect from Law

Attorney Paul Amundson, Boston, a graduate of Lawrence in the class of 1914, addressed the college students at convocation Monday morning on the subject of Why Study Law. Mr. Amundson spoke from his own experience and pointed out the important characteristics for legal success.

Among those points given the most important, according to Mr. Amundson is the "innate presence of a mental faculty of analysis or the possession of a legal mind. Law is not all trial work and in fact, criminal law is relatively unimportant at the present time, he said. Modern law consists largely of business matters and finance.

Mr. Amundson said the legal profession is virtually a life sentence to hard labor, and that mere training is not enough.

During the remainder of the day, vocational conferences were held with those Lawrence students who are interested in taking up the study of law.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND ENTERTAINS LIONS

New Officers of Club Installed at Monday Meeting at Conway

Selections to be played at the state high school band tournament at Stevens Point on May 16, 17 and 18 were played by the Appleton high school band in a concert under the direction of E. E. Moore at the regular meeting of the Lions club at the Conway hotel Monday afternoon. The local school band will be entered in Class A in the contest.

Approximately 100 bands are expected to compete for state honors in the four classes, A, B, C and D. Last year the Appleton high school aggregation was entered in Class C and won first place in that division. Classification is made according to the number of months' experience the organizations have in playing together. The average number of months of training of individual members also is taken into consideration. Appleton high school band members have an average of 17 months of training.

Officers were installed at the Monday meeting of the club. They are as follows: A. G. Meating, president; Harvey Schlitz, first vice-president; J. R. Whitman, second vice-president; George Wood, third vice-president; E. A. Dettman, treasurer; Erik Madisen, secretary; L. L. Moore, lion tamer, John Roach, tail twister.

WILLIAMS DENIES ANY KNOWLEDGE OF KILLING

Elkhorn —(P)—Earl Williams, a convict of Leavenworth federal prison, returned here for trial has denied killing Motorcycle Policeman Hans Lindstrom when questioned by Dist. Atty. Arthur Thorson and the sheriff.

"I have no knowledge of the Lindstrom slaying, despite what my wife may say," he said. "I only know that neither I nor Norman Walls had anything to do with it and I can prove a perfect alibi." Williams will be arraigned here on a charge of murder. Walls, of Delavan Lake, who accused him of the slaying, and Mrs. Williams, both having been convicted of other charges and sentenced, are held as state's witnesses. Regardless of the outcome of the trial here, Williams will be returned to the federal prison to complete his 18-months sentence for a narcotic law violation. Canton, China, now has 15 motion picture houses.

WILKINSON FOR COMMISSIONER

The office of commissioner of internal revenue is about to be vacated by the resignation of Commissioner Blair. Next to a cabinet portfolio this is one of the most important places of public trust in the affairs of the nation. As a subdivision of the treasury department it has grown to be a position of heavy responsibility by reason of the large sums of money involved and the extensiveness of the service performed.

For a good many years the appointment has gone to border and Southern states for the ostensible reason that the work was largely concerned with the excise laws dealing with whiskeys and tobacco and the bonded warehouses were principally in these states. With the advent of prohibition and the federal income tax, the field of internal revenue activity has shifted until now it is centered far north of the Mason-Dixon line. If any sound reason has ever existed for confining the appointment of commissioner of internal revenue to the south or border states that reason no longer exists. The administrative functions of the internal revenue service call for the Midwestern atmosphere and viewpoint. This administration demands an intimate knowledge of men and human nature, along with financial and commercial undertakings.

Wisconsin, through its internal revenue department, has made a record that stands second to none in the Union. This record is generally admitted. Not only has administration of internal revenue affairs been singularly efficient, but it has at all times been clean and free from suspicion or scandal. The personal factor has operated here to a large degree and that factor is A. H. Wilkinson, collector of internal revenue for the district located at Milwaukee. Mr. Wilkinson is another example of the self-made man rising successfully and successfully from lumberjack to banker and collector. During the years of his incumbency he has promoted Wisconsin's field service from the third from the bottom to the top. No comment is required upon this evidence of competency. On three different occasions Mr. Wilkinson has been called to Washington to assist in reorganizing administration of the internal revenue laws. On another occasion the government sent him as its emissary to reorganize Florida's system.

Wisconsin has in recent years suffered from lack of federal consideration in the recognition of its brains because of its political turmoil. It has stood in its own light so far as a voice in the administrative affairs of the country was concerned. Today, however, Mr. Wilkinson is being endorsed by both Progressive and Conservatives for the post about to be vacated by the resignation of Commissioner Blair. He has organizing genius, an analytical mind, an equable temperament and a record that points him out as a logical successor of Mr. Blair. We trust his name will receive due and careful consideration by the appointive power.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

Sixty-four women are running for seats in parliament in the British general elections, May 30. These include 28 Laborites, 24 Liberals, 8 Conservatives, 3 Communists and one Independent. Nine women are now members of parliament. Politicians estimate that at least one-third or the contesting candidates will be elected this month, more than doubling the present number.

Much has been said of the "flapper vote" in the coming British election. That phrase does not mean what it would have. British women younger than 21 are not enfranchised, but that age has been given the vote so recently that far greater numbers of women are eligible to vote in this election than ever before. And there are more women voters than men. It is not surprising, under these circumstances, that more than three-score women are running for parliament. British women are tremendously interested in politics. The ultimate results may in time be very great.

WATERING THE SAHARA

There are many great engineering projects on this continent, accomplished or contemplated—the Panama canal, the Muscle Shoals dam and power plant, the Boulder Dam, the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway, and others. But none of them has more appeal to the imagination than a project planned by Dwight Braman, a New York engineer, for northern Africa.

He proposes to turn the Mediterranean Sea into the Sahara Desert and redeem 100,000 square miles of waste sand in southern Tunis and Algeria and along the western border of Tripoli. The salt water would flood 60,000 square miles now below sea level, making an inland sea. The resulting evaporation, he believes, would affect the climate over an extensive region, just as the Mediterranean does in its own region, where long ago was dry land.

With rainfall would come a new development corresponding to our western irrigation systems. Water would be stored and distributed over a big area. This source of moisture would be supplemented in some places by artesian wells. An underground water plant would be established near enough to the surface to make a productive soil out of the desert dust and support an empire. He thinks he could reclaim the first 100,000 square miles for $50,000,000 which would be less than one dollar an acre.

It means little to Americans directly, but one such success would lead to others. We still have deserts of our own awaiting human use. And it may be more possible than we have supposed to perform the miracle of changing the climate over large areas. The future may bring wonders in that line.

TRUST FOR WORKERS

John J. Raskob, former financial head of General Motors, is said to have a plan, not yet worked out fully, that would provide a giant trust for workers. The idea, it is explained, is to give the little investor a chance to build himself up on the installment plan an estate to take care of him in his old age. He would go about it as he now goes about to buy an automobile, except that it would take him longer to complete payments.

The general idea sounds good. If developed to the point of practical operation, it may still sound good. Mr. Raskob is regarded by many as a financial genius. Yet cautious persons may stop and ponder when they find that the "estate" proposed for the humble multitude would not be real estate or gilt-edged securities, but merely stock in an investment company, whose own stability and value would be based on the common stocks of industrial concerns.

Such stocks are regarded just now with high favor. They have led the market in recent months, in preference to preferred stocks and bonds. They may continue to do so, as optimistic investors expect—but that depends on continued prosperity at high level.

Not only is common stock high now, but there is a tremendous lot of it on the market, with the volume steadily increasing. Stock gambling has taken mainly this form. It might be doing the modest investor, and the country, a dubious favor by dumping into the speculative pot new millions drained from pay envelopes. The installment idea is fine; but why not a more substantial form of investment, approved by long experience?

NOT SO VERY FUNNY

The homecoming of young Tom Heflin, Jr., has stirred many citizens to a good deal of mirth. The young man's hilarious arrival in New York, his eagerness to see Al Smith and "tell him there's no hard feeling," and the contrast between these actions and his father's record as a bitter anti-Smith dry, have taken on a humorous aspect in a great many minds.

Really, though, there isn't anything so screamingly funny about it. The spectacle of a much-loved son coming home to his father intoxicated never was really amusing. The presence of the eighteenth amendment in our constitution is largely due, no doubt, to scenes just such as that.

However much you may disagree with Senator Heflin's public record, it is hard not to sympathize with him

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—No one knows how many gentlemen of 4 former generation sit behind the lace curtains of plush parlors in the staid old houses that once were swell, but now are quaint.

It is generally supposed that Murray Hill, in the upper Sixties east of Fifth avenue, and other neighborhoods of former fashion still shelter these recluses.

At any rate, now and then, one ventures out into the sunlight to prove to a world of synopsizing knees that the black satin dignity of trailing skirts is not entirely dead. It is on Sunday that these figures from the past are seen most often, making their way to church in streets that match, for a single day in seven, their own sedate bearing.

The other Sunday two were seen on Fifth avenue, adventuring afoot beyond their homes.

Up into the fifties they went, finally stopping before a pert lingerie display in a smart shop.

There a silken pajama suit, bright green and trimly trimmed, spread itself before their eyes. One old lady turned to the other.

"I knew we would see something new, Aggie, if we came up here," she said.

VERSATILITY
Among the Freiburg Passion Players now in New York there are three to whom the Biblical spectacle offers little more than an avocation.

Henry Hauk, who has played the part of the Apostle Peter for 42 years, is a watchmaker by trade. Lothar Mayring, the Pontius Pilate, is a playwright back home in Baden. Joseph Danner, whose role is that of a Jewish priest, ordinarily is a Shakespearean actor.

Adolph Fasnacht, the Christus, likewise has other talents, especially vocal. He steadfastly refused, however, to lend his tenor voice to any other role than that of the Nazarene.

Incidentally, Adolph and his wife, Amalie, have adopted a homeless native at St. Paul, Minn. It is a kitten picked up in a St. Paul alley, and now growing fat on the cream of Sixth avenue.

LITERATURE
Commander Byrd, in the suburbs of the South Pole, William Beebe in Bermuda, Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins has sailed for England, Dick Douglas, Jr., eagle scout of Greensboro, N. C., is on his way to Alaska to hunt bears; and other exploring authors of G. P. Putnam's Sons are scattered elsewhere. All of which creates a problem—what to publish while they're away.

The solution seems to lie in novels, so intimate has gone out their manuscripts are welcome, to say the least. Before the host of "great American novel" writers start sending in their brain-children, however, a note of caution is offered.

The postman's whistle announcing acceptance of a first novel does not always sound success. More than one budding author is back at the old job, the first fruit of his imagination nipped by the frost of failure.

There is, for example, a local newspaper man who has always been just a pay-day ahead of poverty. Some time ago he took a year off to write a novel. It was published last fall and flopped. Less than a thousand copies were sold. It's out of his system, but he's not better off financially, than he ever was.

Today's Anniversary

LEWIS AND CLARK

The first stage of the most remarkable exploration in American history began at St. Louis 125 years ago today. When Lewis and Clark started the ascent of the Missouri river to explore the vast northwest wilderness acquired by the United States in the Louisiana Purchase. The two explorers were close personal friends and their exploits together have made them the Damon and Pythias of American history. Lewis was originally commissioned by Congress to lead the expeditionary party alone, but with President Jefferson's consent, he chose his army "buddy," Clark, as joint leader.

They were accompanied along various stages of the journey by various numbers of men, never, however, exceeding 50. Of those who accompanied Lewis and Clark on the entire expedition only one died and one deserted.

The expedition was the first in history to cross the American continent north of Mexico. Many Indian tribes were encountered, which up to that time were unknown to whites. More than 7,000 miles to the Pacific and back again—were explored thoroughly before the party returned to St. Louis in September, 1806.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday, May 17, 1904

The annual banquet of the West End Reading club was to be held the following evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Keefe, Cherry-st.

Mrs. H. H. Rogers and Mrs. Louise Lawson entertained the members of the Monday club at a 6 o'clock dinner the previous evening.

The farmers of the county were hard put to find seed corn. The usual amount had been saved the previous year but it was of little or no value.

Charles Staeger of this city was elected president of the topographical union the previous Sunday at Neenah. Other officers were Edward McMurchy, of Neenah, vice president; Peter Arons of Menasha, secretary; E. A. McIntyre of this city, treasurer and Ben LeRoy of Neenah, sergeant at arms.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Friske had returned to their home in this city after visiting friends and relatives in Green Bay.

TEN YEARS AGO

Tuesday, May 13, 1919

With action on their last communications still pending German delegates were preparing a fifth note on the necessity of peace.

Dr. Eliza Culbertson left that day for Milwaukee where she was to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Osteopaths.

E. C. Otto and Daniel P. Steinberg won the prizes at skat at the Elks club the previous evening.

Mrs. Anton Rechner returned to the city the previous evening after visiting for a week with relatives in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mollon had returned from Waukegan where they had visited relatives.

Mrs. Frank Engel left that morning for Antigo where she was to visit relatives.

"You can take your fingers off that leak in the pipe now, father."

"Thank heavens! Is the plumber here at last?"

"No—the house is on fire."

Since 1800 the United States has purchased from foreign countries absolute sovereignty over 2,242,700 square miles of territory for which it has paid $93,500,000.

New York now has a population estimated at 6,000,000. The greater urban district of which it forms a part, including large cities across the Hudson, etc., contains nearly 9,500,000 persons.

Natural heat from the volcano of Kilauea is used to heat the superintendent's office in the Hawaii National Park.

Bees are being transported from various flower districts in Los Angeles in motor cars. This is part of an experiment being conducted to increase the production of honey.

Pittsburgh, Pa., has more people outside than inside its limits, and is virtually a city of 1,200,000.

DO WE SHAKE 'EM LAME OR TALK 'EM TO DEATH?

Politicians seldom achieve it, but statesmen not infrequently wear an arm in a sling when they have shaken hands with a long string of voters workers or people who seek jobs. Maybe it is right that election arm should be confined to statesmen exclusively; politicians being men of actions, not words, have no way of getting revenge on the public.

For several years physicians and public health authorities have avowed of fondness for the theory that certain infectious diseases, say the flu and what the old timers still quaintly term "common cold" are spread by the custom of shaking hands. So strong is the belief of the health authorities in this theory that they sometimes place at the very head of the list of precautions recommended for those who would avoid such disease a reminder to wash the hands with soap and warm water immediately after shaking hands with any one who has a "cold."

In a general way we do not avail ourselves of the hot water and soap hands wash nearly as frequently as we should for safety's sake. It ought to be deemed a nuisance to public health to offer food or drink for sale, to be consumed on the premises, without providing adequate facilities for the washing of the hands. It is customary in most communities to issue permits or licenses of some sort to places where food or beverages are to be sold for that purpose, but this licensing system is exceedingly lax and many such places are without any facilities for cleanliness. Typhoid fever, paratyphoid, dysentery, colon bacillus infections, and other intestinal infections, are likely to be acquired thru contamination of food by unclean hands, as we know. Nevertheless, I have never seen any convincing evidence that such diseases as influenza, grippé, so called colds, or in fact any of the respiratory infections, are spread in this way. I do not believe I run any risk of catching your cry by shaking hands with you—provided you refrain from talking to me while I'm doing it.

As a general rule, persons shaking hands do say something or other, no matter how inane, such as How-do-you-do, and it is virtually impossible to shake hands without coming within conversational spray range. I believe the infection is contracted by the how-say-do, and that it would occur quite as readily if the individuals merely approached within range and said Howdy and each shook his own hand and never touched the other at all.

Even if one should silently shake hands with a person having, say, diphtheria or whooping cough, immediately after the person has coughed in his hand or licked his finger, that might contaminate one's hand with diphtheria or pertussis bacilli, but it could not give one the disease. It remains for the diphtheria germs or whooping cough germs to find their way into one's nose or mouth and they can't budge a fraction of an inch of their own accord, so they must be carried into the mouth or nose, on your own hand or finger; and that soon, for these disease germs cannot survive more than a few minutes, as a rule, on the skin, where it is light, dry and cold—germs need darkness, moisture and warmth.

Health authorities might well forget this futile effort to persuade civilized people to cease shaking hands, and direct their energies to popularizing hot soap and water hand washing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Sippy Method

Some time ago you gave a very interesting talk about treatment of gastric or duodenal ulcer in which you described the Sippy treatment. Can you inform me where one may get Sippy's writing on the subject, if Dr. Sippy has published his method in a book or a medical periodical? (K. F. J.)

Answer—So far as I know, the Sippy method is not available for laymen. Any good physician can follow the method in the treatment of gastric or duodenal ulcer. It would be unwise for a layman to attempt to manage it himself.

Have You a Match?
I had your formula for eczema put up, and I will say that I have never benefited from any treatment so wonderfully. Do you smoke? If a pipe, do you prefer straight or curved stem? (L. A. E.)

Answer—I like 'em long, light and half curved.

One Sided Nasal Discharge
Daughter aged 7 has had foul discharge from one side of her nose for a year. We can't afford a specialist. Have been using three times a day for several months. (B. B.)

Answer—A specialist is probably not necessary, and you have squandered, uselessly, for the nostrum, more than you would have to pay a physician for examination and advice. Your description suggests two possibilities. First, a foreign body lodged in the nasal passage; second, diphtheria in the nose. Throw the nostrum in the sink and save the price of a bottle or two for a good doctor for the child.

Takes the Slack Out of 'Em
My husband brought home a bad case of cric after traveling for a week in crowds. I gave him your treatment—A. H. M. P. B. in bed, with excellent results. Would recommend this treatment strongly for all husbands who threaten to hang around the house several days nursing themselves. And I suggest that the wife put plenty of mustard in the water. (Mrs. G. B. F.)

Answer—The way you describe it, the hot mustard foot bath sounds pretty tough on a fellow; he quietly leans to lie a day or two, and alas he finds himself in hot water after all. Just the same, I still believe a hot mustard foot bath, properly administered to the patient in bed, is the best first aid treatment for cric.

Now that scientists have taught the mechanical man how to talk, be surprised if he demands a five-day week.

Power companies have been buying several American newspapers, it has just been learned, probably with the idea of putting a little power into the editorials.

Mussolini certainly seems to be pursuing a constructive policy in Italy the way he keeps making cabinets.

Jouett Shouse has been named head of the Democratic executive committee. Well?

Why doesn't Senator Heflin copy and learn that little five-word speech Colonel Lindbergh delivers to newspapermen so nicely?

The revolution in Mexico has petered out. Now would be a good time for the railroads of the United States to start improving the roadbeds.

A couple of Ohio dry agents were suspended for hiring girl decoys to buy liquor. It is interesting to note that men still are gallant enough to share their glories with the weaker sex.

Oil man Sinclair told his associates he would go to jail, if he had to, "with his head up." The story ought to be a "gusher" for the sobsoberists.

The Coal Service Institute in Kansas City offers a free course in coal shoveling. Every man ought to see that this opportunity is not missed by "the little woman."

President Hoover has been on quite a few fishing trips but that doesn't make him a real fisherman. We are waiting to see what he will do or read what he will say when the hook catches in his coat-tails.

RADIO PROGRAM

Editor Post-Crescent—Some of us radio fans stumbled into an interesting broadcast, beginning about midnight on Saturday. It was the re-broadcast of KDKA's regular wave length, of an experimental program from 2 ME at Sydney, Australia, which in turn was being received at Pittsburgh on a short-wave receiver.

In addition to the use of KDKA's regular wave available to all us listeners with standard receiving sets, Pittsburgh was using their short wave of 25 meters also. Sydney was thus picking up its own broadcast, and checking it with its own program.

Incidentally Commander Byrd, at the South Pole, was picking up the broadcast. This was a three-cornered conversation was carried on, into which Appleton listeners could tune, getting the voices and the music, except that of the Byrd station, which was intelligible only to those who can read continental code.

Before Australia was hooked in, KDKA broadcast their usual Saturday night message to the Byrd party, afterwards giving us the thrill of hearing the direct code message of Commander Mason of the Byrd expedition, in reply.

This being finished, the KDKA operator reported the strong reception of Sydney, Australia, through station 2 ME of the Amalgamated Wireless of Australia, and said they would re-broadcast them. Shortly announcer McDonald of the Sydney station was plainly heard, his nationality clearly revealed when struggling with the pronunciation of the co-operating station, KDKA, which according to the British announcer "down under" was Kai Eye!

This prearranged broadcast revealed that while it was 12:20 midnight on Saturday in Appleton, it was 4:20 p. m. Sunday afternoon in Sydney. The music was announced not as a Victor record, but as "His Master's Voice." Announcer, McDonald at Sydney said they were receiving back their own program, after its trip to Pittsburgh, 117 of a second later. It seemed to him longer than that, he said. Later he made a correction, saying that it took his waves 1-17 of a second to reach Pittsburgh, but that the return trip back to Australia took another 1-17 second; thus his sending set and his receiving set failed to synchronize by about 1-9 of a second, that being the time required for his waves to make the round trip of about 20,000 miles.

In the interest of some thousands of radio listeners in this district, might I suggest that the augmented press service, just installed by the Post-Crescent, might include a tabloid of high spots of the daily radio program. Features like this Australian program are missed, except as the persistent dial twirler happens to pick them up.

Why not list every big coming chain features, the sporting events, the big speeches, and the unusual features that a fore-knowledge might enable us to tune into?

I hope your enlarged press service may include these programs, and that you will give them space.

Yours truly,

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONE

Hollywood — The talkies are in danger of becoming the "sleepies." A "sleepie" is the hypothetical product of the long hours now in vogue in many movie studios; a talkie characterized by such unseemly bits of action as a heroine yawning openly at the passionate address of a hero whose very kisses are interpolated with stifled yawns.

With a certain number of pictures to be made on schedule, and as yet inadequate sound stages and recording equipment to accommodate them all, many picture crews are working overtime, and the former more or less orderly routine of cinema life is disrupted.

Actors and prop men alike are learning to appreciate a good rest. Men of the studio transportation department who used to be fairly sure of unbroken nightly slumbers now are called from their beds at all hours of early morning to convey heavy-lidded extras homeward.

And studio photographers, who once could call stars for sittings in spare hours of the day, now must arrange special engagements for late afternoon, usually just before the star reports on the set for the night's work.

"FAMOUS LAST WORDS"
One director has had to keep his company working an average of 12 to 14 hours daily on his latest picture, with a record day of 20 stretch. Such "days," while not uncommon, are, of course, exceptional. Even directors have hearts.

And there are consolations. The players usually are assured of a good rest between pictures, unless they happen to be free-lancing and much in demand.

In a little bungalow on the Hollywood hillside reside, in apparently all the traditional happiness of new-liveds, the "singing cowboy" George Gillespie, and his Chicago heiress bride, Katherine Thorne.

Gillespie's screen career has gone another step, and the bride's parents, who separated the couple for two weeks last February, may be interested to learn that Renaud Hoffman has given Son-in-law George a bit in "The Climax" as a guitar-playing Italian.

REAL TEST
A new microphone test for extras has been devised by the director of George Bancroft's new starring picture, "Sister Susie is sewing shirts for soldiers" is a pretty good tongue tripper.

But how about "Samuel Sharwenka Rossiter Strudella Stewart"? It's a name as well as a test—the full cognomen of a negro concert singer and pianist who plays a convict role in the picture.

SENIORS QUIZZED ON KNOWLEDGE THEY ACQUIRED IN SCHOOL

Comprehensive Exams Determine What College Students Have Learned

Comprehensive examinations, given last year to the senior students of all Pennsylvania colleges and universities, were given to the seniors at Lawrence college on Monday and Tuesday from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning and from 2:00 to 5:00 in the afternoon. The purpose underlying the test is to learn what the bachelor's degree, representing an eight-year high school and college education, amounts to in terms of clear, available, important ideas and the use of them in thinking.

The test was required of all seniors by a vote of the faculty and all seniors were excused from classes on the two days. Seniors in the college who will not be graduating either because of lack of grade-points or hours, were not permitted to take the test.

The examination was given in four parts, the physical world, dealing with the fundamental principles underlying such sciences as chemistry, astronomy, physics and mathematics and flora and fauna consisting the first part. The second division was on the ancient civilizations and questions on six foreign languages and all the ancient cultures were asked.

The third division of the examination dealt with the medieval civilizations and the fourth part with modern culture. Literature, sociology, and economics were taken up in these last two divisions.

The results of this test will in no way jeopardize any senior's degree, but students who rank in the upper half of the class in the test will be excused from all final examinations in courses in which they have an average of C or better.

PEDESTRIANS MUST WALK WITH SIGNAL LIGHTS, SAYS CHIEF

Failure of pedestrians to observe the signal lights at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st has created a dangerous situation at that intersection, according to Police Chief George T. Prim. People who are walking are expected to cross the street only when the green lights are showing. In the same manner as automobiles the chief pointed out, and when they fail to do so they menace their own lives and limbs as well as the people who are riding in cars that are operating in accordance with the signals.

"There is a city ordinance which prohibits this practice unless there is an immediate and decided improvement I will instruct my officers to arrest persons who ignore the signals," the chief said.

have voted for the plan on that basis and it might have thereby been defeated in the senate. In this way the Democratic leadership outmaneuvered its foes though Republicans are planning to kill the export debenture plan in the house of representatives.

But the moral effect of the Robinson victory is there just the same no matter what happens to the debenture plan. He has united the party—north and south and east and west and the division which permitted Mr. Hoover to carry southern states in the last election has been wiped out so far as party unity in congress is concerned.

It is not often so soon after a defeat in a presidential election that the vanquished are stirring themselves so aggressively. It means that President Hoover will have a real battle on his hands and that more than ever he will need to do the same thing in the Republican party, namely unite it for action. His efforts to conciliate the Borah and

CHILDREN FIND BODY OF SUICIDE IN MANAWA WOODS

Paul Mundt, Missing Since Dec. 26, Ended His Life With Pistol

The badly decomposed body of Paul Mundt, 23, missing from his home at Manawa since Dec. 26, was found yesterday in a grove about a half mile from his home by Miss Eunice McCoy, a Manawa school teacher who was guiding her fourth and fifth grade children through the woods.

A .32 calibre revolver at his side and a note in his pocket proved Mundt had ended his own life. The young man, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Mundt, Manawa, had worked at a lumber camp north of Shawano until Christmas time when home for a visit. The day after Christmas he disappeared and for a time it was believed he had returned to the camp.

A note in his pocket stated that "when you find me I will be dead." The note told his parents that his "turkey" was at "Paul Anderson's camp" and it contained clothes that his parents could use as they wished. He also told them to collect some money due him.

Sheriff Arthur Steenbock and Undersheriff James Hanson of Waupaca took charge of the body and it was announced no inquest will be held. The body will be buried at Manawa.

Attends Convention
Miss Anna M. Tarr, assistant professor of library science, is attending the annual convention of the American Library association in Washington, D. C., from May 13 to 18 inclusive. Round table discussions on various phases of library work will feature the meetings.

Fees wings constitute a recognition of the difficulties of the problem. It remains to be seen what sacrifices of economics will be made in this session by both Republican and Democrats for political reason, but politics is still the uppermost influence.

BALDWIN CERTAIN OF VICTORY AT ELECTION

London—(AP)—A message to the general public from Premier Stanley Baldwin published today expressed confidence in his government would be renewed and the conservative party returned to power in the election May 30.

"I start my general election campaign confident of victory," the premier asserted.

"No party leader ever had better ground for confidence. I have behind me an absolutely certain party and that party has behind it five years of solid work for the betterment of industry and the welfare of the people. We can look on the past pledges in the face and on the strength of our proven faith we ask a simple mandate to go on building up the prosperity of the nation on the same sound lines. Neither Liberals nor Socialists can offer the country a stable, steady, progressive government which above all things it needs at the present time.

"That is the issue in a nutshell and I have no doubt we shall receive at the hands of the electors a decisive mandate to go full speed ahead."

Elect New Leaders Of Music Group

MISS Maud Harwood was elected chairman of the Music Department of the Appletton Women's club at the last meeting of the year Monday afternoon at the clubhouse. Other officers for the coming year are Mrs. S. W. Murphy, vice chairman, and Mrs. Nita Brinkley, secretary-treasurer. The retiring officers are Mrs. Earl Baker, chairman, Miss Maud Harwood, vice chairman, and Mrs. H. K. Pratt, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. H. D. Reese was the social chairman.

A guest card party was held after the business session, with 15 tables in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. John Engel, Miss Maud Harwood and Mrs. W. C. Jacobson. Members of the committee in charge of the cards were Mrs. W. H. Dean, Mrs. C. E. Reineck, Mrs. Joseph Cox and Mrs. Casper Miller.

Seven monthly meetings were held this year, beginning in October. The first program was of a miscellaneous nature, and subjects of other programs were Wisconsin Day music, MacDowell, Beethoven and Grieg, National Anthems, Schubert and Nature Music. The department, a study group which meets the second Monday of each month, this year presented to the Appletton Women's club a party in the memory of Mrs. E. E. Dunn.

Dots In Vogue

IT'S SO FEMINE

THE STYLE No. 2791 is an enchanting one-piece affair of grass green silk crepe printed in small white polka-dot, with dainty frill placed diagonally across left side of bodice and with the smart frills inserted in darts of long tight fitting sleeves. The edge of frills are picoté. Two circular flounces stitched to skirt along perforated lines, contribute further smartness and graceful flare. A belt emphasizes new raised waistline.

THE PATTERN is offered at cost price 15 cents (stamps or coin) as a service to readers, who sew, and is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24 and 42 inches bust. A Picture Chart illustrates every step in the making, showing how the one-piece front and back are joined at side and shoulder seams, and just how to stitch circular tiers along dotted lines, etc. It's so explicit, and so amusing.

War Again!

Just when Washington was believing that the warfare over the social status of Mrs. Edward E. Gann had been settled, it was reported to have broken out anew by Mrs. Alfred Longworth (above) challenging the preferred position accorded Vice President Curtis' sister and hostess, who is shown below. Mrs. Longworth, wife of Speaker Nick Longworth and daughter of the late President Roosevelt is reported to have sent regrets when invited to a dinner where Mrs. Gann was to be given social precedence.

MRS. HOOVER CASTS ASIDE OLD CUSTOMS

BY SUE McNAMARA
Washington, May 14.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover is delighting Washington with the nonchalant way in which she is casting aside customs and precedents which hitherto have bound presidents' wives.

As first lady she is displaying those traits of independence and originality which characterized the outdoor girl, Lou Henry, and the wife of the engineer in China, who went flying home during the Boxer rebellion to stop Chinese from looting her house.

In the short time she has been in the white house Mrs. Hoover has sprung several surprises. Once she slipped away from the secret service men for an early morning drive. Taking the wheel herself, she drove several women friends all around Washington. Another surprise was when she attended an evening concert at the Pan-American union unaccompanied by the President.

It was the first time president's wife had attended one of these interesting affairs. Mrs. Coolidge was invited to attend similar concerts, but never because President Coolidge did not care to go out much in the evenings.

The inability of the President to attend did not deter Mrs. Hoover, however. She went in shortly before the great orchestra began the opening number, to the pleased surprise of the rest of the guests.

No amount had been made of her coming. There were whispers of "There's Mrs. Hoover," and the audience arose for a moment until she was seated.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE Goofygoos began to race, and anger flushed to Clowzy's face. It made him mad to think the bird would steal a loaf of bread. "Hey! come back here," was Clowzy cried. "Such tricks as that should not be tried. I wish I had a rope. I'd throw it sailing over your head."

The bird kept running very fast, and held the bread tight. At last the other Tynites realized that they were being robbed. Then Scouty shouted, "Catch him, quick! He'll pay real dear for this trick." Poor Scouty was so storming mad his heart just throbbed and throbbed.

The baker, who'd been sound asleep, looked up and shouted, "Hey there, keep real quiet! I must have my snooze. You're making too much noise. Remember, when I've had my sleep, my party plans I'll gladly keep. But if you keep on shouting, I will disappoint you boys."

"But, look! We're shy one loaf of bread," one of the Tynites quickly said. "The Goofygoos is running off. He has it 'neath his wing. He wants it for his very own, and plans to eat it all alone." "Is that so?" said the baker man. "Well, he'll do no such thing."

"Come on, now, after him! Be quick, 'cause I imagine he is slick. We'll circle round the Goofygoos, so he can't get away. Of course he may think this is fun, but quite a bad thing he has done. He'll soon find out that stealing things is not our sort of play."

So, off they scampered, full of pep, and neared the big bird, step by step. To circle all around him, 'tween a half an hour was spent. Then Clowzy dived up close to him, and took a dive in perfect trim. He caught the Goofygoos' long legs and down they quickly went.

(The Tynmites have their honey banquet in the next story.)

ORGAN STUDENT GOES ABROAD TO CONTINUE STUDY

Miss Elizabeth Thompson, organ student of Prof. C. Webb, who will play in a recital at First Methodist church Wednesday evening, will spend the coming year in Europe completing her musical education. She will study in Paris, and through the introduction of Prof. Webb will have the opportunity of meeting the organist of King George of England, and will have permission to play on the organ at the Chapel Royal, Buckingham palace, and at Westminster Abbey. Miss Thompson will receive her Bachelor of Music degree this spring.

The next day, the last Sunday before Thanksgiving, ushered in the first intense cold of the season. Snow which, the day before, had begun to melt, was frozen to a brittle crust. Breakfast table conversation blithely concerned itself with coasting, skiing and sleigh-riding. One of the old heirlooms, to which Nils Jonson as purchaser of the farm had fallen heir, was a beautiful, commodious sleigh, intact down to the sleigh-bell harness for the horse. On Nils' mortified dairy farm, however, the only horse available was a fat and placid mare, old enough to expect a decent retirement.

"It won't hurt her to work for her board one day," Cherry decided. "All in favor of a sleigh-ride to church say 'Aye!'"

"Aye!" chorused George Pruitt, Harry Blaine, Nils and Crystal.

"I'll stay at home with Hope. You know Lena has Sunday off," Rhoda reminded her sister-in-law, but she did not look at all unhappy over the prospect.

"Wish I could go," Tony said regretfully, "but I have to stick around and wait for Dick. I borrowed his car last night to come back in, you know, and he'll be coming for it. Rotten luck! I'd like nothing better than a sleighride. Maybe Rhoda will let me amuse myself helping her cook dinner."

Crystal stole covert glances at the girl who had been through such a harrowing experience the night before. Except for faint shadows under her blue-diamond eyes—in spite of her alleged sleepiness Crystal knew that she had not slept until nearly dawn—Tony seemed as gay and carefree as usual.

After the pinging sleigh, drawn by a surprised and slightly indignant old mare, had swept down the drive, trailing ribbons of laughter and blithe good-byes, Rhoda and Tony stood silent for a long minute, their eyes fixed upon the Christmas-card landscape but not seeing it, filled with visions of their own future.

At last Tony flung back her head and took a lung-filling breath of the cold wind that whipped their coats about their knees. Then, "It was so secure about wanting to help you cook the dinner, Rhoda. It's time I was learning—"

"I hope you'll be as happy as I'm going to be—with Ben, Tony," Rhoda said shyly, as they turned back into the house.

"You've guessed then?" Tony asked. "Yes, I am going to marry Dick, but no one knows but you and Crystal. I'd rather you pretended not to know, Rhoda.... And thanks for the good wishes. Not much chance oh, that's nonsense, isn't it? It's no more of course? Now, what's the dinner program? I want to watch you cook every dish on the menu."

"Cream of spinach soup," Rhoda began obediently, but with a demure twinkle in her eyes. "Roast duck with chestnut stuffing and apple sauce, baked sweet potatoes, and Spanish cream for dessert."

The crunching of wheels on the snow-battered drive announced a visitor.

"It's that Dick, where did he get a car?" Tony puzzled, and ran to the window to find the answer to her own question. After one look she started back, anger blazing in her eyes. "It's Dick and his father! I wonder if he thought that was necessary? Or—perhaps—" Wild, exultant hope routed anger....

LUTHERANS URGED TO PRESERVE FAITH BY UNITING SYNODS

Speaker Scores Modernists for Rejecting Ancient Dogmas

Scoring the ministers and laymen who tear apart the Bible and who do not believe that Christ was born of the Virgin Mary, or that Christ ascended into Heaven, or of the existence of a Heaven and a hell, the Rev. T. J. C. Stellanor, Sandusky, Ohio, told of the faith of Lutherans in the three statements of the Christian creed and of their belief in the Bible from beginning to end, at the Lutheran rally held at the Appleton high school Monday evening. Approximately 400 Lutherans from Van Dyne, Oshkosh, Fremont, Weyauwega, Manawa, Green Bay and Appleton attended.

"Of all denominations in our country, the Lutheran church has the opportunity and the responsibility of keeping alive the doctrines of Jesus Christ, for though Lutherans are divided into synods, where there are Lutherans there is a four-square belief in the word of God. "Time was when other denominations almost pitted the Lutheran church, but the little frame church of the Lutheran faith is gone and in its place are large stone structures in the prominent places of the world. More than this, our Lutheran men and women are beginning to take their places in the world, and the Lutheran denomination is now a big factor in American life."

ENVI E FOR POWER

Comparing the project of uniting the three large Lutheran synods to Napoleon's policy to unite for strength, the Rev. Mr. Stellanor stated that the amalgamation of the three synods is the cornerstone from which Lutherans will build from now on, and that a united front will give the denomination greater strength to withstand the onslaughts of doubt.

The speaker explained the necessity of money in the merger of this kind, pointing out that an unsound economic situation at the beginning of the merger would have the same results as a scarcity of money in the lives of young married people. The Joint Synod of Ohio, of which this district is apart, needs a million dollars to clear off its debt and erect new buildings and the speaker said, it would be unfair to the Buffalo and Iowa synods to enter into a union with them and expect them to fulfill obligations incurred before the merger.

"But we are not going to beg for money," said Rev. Stellanor. "This is to be a thank offering and each is asked to give as he has been endowed by the Lord. The widow's mite and the thousands of dollars from the capitalist will be equally welcome, if they are given cheerfully."

NESPER OUTLINES PLAN

The plan of the campaign to raise a million dollar thank offering between June 2 and 3 outlined by the Rev. Paul W. Nesper, Wheeling, W. Va., pastor of First English Lutheran church in this city from 1915 to 1920. He spoke of the broader horizon and greater opportunities which would be provided through the merger and asked that the campaign be conducted in a thorough and yet devout manner.

Introductory remarks were made by the Rev. E. C. Reuter of this city and the Rev. C. J. Lange of Oshkosh district chairman presided. The Rev. E. Koch offered the benediction. Two selections were played by the Freshman quartet and Miss Hazel Glos sang.

CLAIM AMERICAN BOATS BROKE CANADIAN TREATY

Vancouver, B. C.—(AP)—A violation of treaty rights in anchoring in Canadian waters today was charged against five United States salmon trollers seized in Goose Island harbor by a Canadian patrol boat.

Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries on the Canadian Pacific coast, declared treaty provisions between the United States and Canada allow such boats to come in to Canadian ports only for wood, water, repairs or shelter. He said the seized boats were at anchor when weather conditions were favorable and there was no necessity for shelter.

"The Canadian fishermen," said Major Motherwell, "complain that foreign boats competing with them on the salmon fishing banks along the coast of British Columbia outside the three mile limit are making a convenience of Canadian ports contrary to privileges conferred by treaty."

He said the cases would be dealt with in the usual way by the admiralty court. One of the boats has since been released.

STATE SEEKS TITLE TO 11,000 ACRES OF LAND

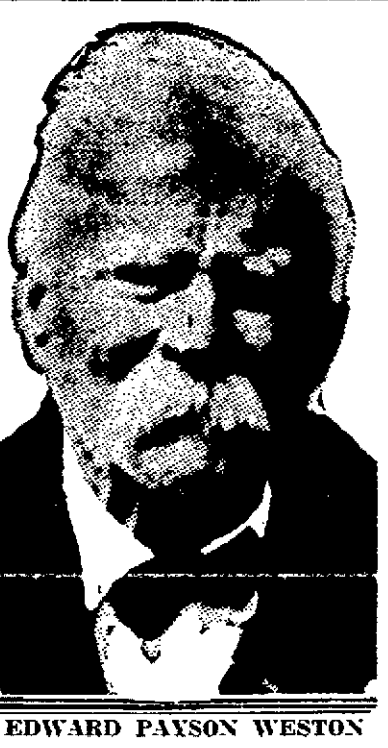

Madison—(AP)—In an effort to gain title to approximately 11,000 acres of land for the state, the Wisconsin land commission has asked the federal land office to determine on what areas within the Indian reservations the state is entitled to indemnity.

The enabling act of 1816, provided that one section of each township of public lands should go to the state for school purposes. Because the federal government retained large areas within the state's boundaries as Indian reservations, the state was entitled to acquire other public lands to offset the loss of sections on the reservations.

No steps, however, have previously been taken to obtain the indemnity, and, according to A. D. Campbell, chief clerk of the commission, most of the desirable public lands have long since been patented.

However, new surveys have developed areas of public lands within the meander lines of inland lakes, and the commission hopes to obtain title to 11,000 acres of this new land as indemnity. It asks the federal land office to determine on just what areas within the reservations the state can claim indemnity.

ADVANCE 2 REASONS FOR CAMPUS WAR AT DES MOINES COLLEGE

Flag of Fundamentalism Fails to Dip in Flareup at University

Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press Des Moines—The flag of fundamentalism did not even dip during the campus warfare—dubbed the "second revolution"—by participating students—which shook the Baptist university of Des Moines into temporary suspension.

The trustees are determined that every officer and instructor "must be a consecrated Christian, true to the inspired word of God, the deity and atonement of Jesus Christ, the necessity of the new birth and justification of faith alone."

Then, they are convinced, the riots which characterized wild times Saturday and Sunday nights, will not be repeated. By that time the president of the university board of trustees, Dr. T. T. Shields, expects to be able to return to pursue his plan of training youths in the rigid tenets of the original Baptist faith.

The only note of discord comes from Miss Edith Redman secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees, whose name had been linked with that of Dr. Shields.

"Until such time as the board of trustees of Des Moines university receives some indication that their student body has experienced a change of mind from their rotten egg and broken glass state, there would not seem to be any profit in continuing efforts to cultivate their minds to the end of issuing diplomas and conferring degrees," she said in a statement signed jointly with Max Schmitt, a member of the board.

Two grounds were advanced by the students as a basis for their rioting. One was a claim that Shields and some of the other officers were Canadians, and that Dr. Shields on the occasion of a Washington Day banquet forced the students to sing "God save the King." It also was said that the American flag had been taken down on one other occasion.

Three Canadian students—sought by rioters on Sunday night—were suspected of being spies.

Then Miss Redman and Dr. Shields were rumored to have had a romance. Placards referring to the Alimee McTherson case in California were distributed. But the board of trustees after an investigation, said, "The board takes pleasure in declaring to the world that the said officers have emerged from the recent furnace of absolute baseless and malicious criticism without even the smell of fire upon them."

Dr. Shields attributes the whole ruckus—which was participated in by 150 students out of the 400 in attendance at the school—to "a modernist conspiracy of devilish ingenuity." He says, however, that "at the present moment I haven't any other thought but that we will continue with the reorganization of the university."

This president of the board of trustees came into prominence in Chicago in 1923 when he attacked the Rev. Dr. Charles Gilkey, now dean of the University of Chicago chapel. He described Dr. Gilkey as an "alleged Baptist who sings a joyous requiem over deceased Baptist fundamentalists" and he called the University of Chicago "the devil's chief plant for the production of poison gas in America."

According to a bulletin of the university, the Des Moines institution "is operated in harmony with the great fundamentals of the faith, such as: The divine inspiration, infallibility and authority of the Bible as being the very word of God; the virgin birth of Christ and His essential deity; His expiatory sacrifice; His literal physical resurrection; His ascension to the Father's right hand, and His personal return—in short Des Moines university teaches the supernaturalism of Christianity as opposed to the naturalism of modernism which is prevalent today."

Edward Payson Weston, 90, Was Union Spy During Civil War

New York—(AP)—Edward Payson Weston, famous long distance pedestrian, died yesterday. He was 90 years old.

The man who at the age of 70 walked 3,895 miles from New York to San Francisco in 104 days and seven hours, spent his last days in a wheel chair. He had been an invalid since being struck by a taxicab two years ago.

Shortly after the taxicab accident he was found wandering about the streets of New York in a daze. Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," established a trust fund for him which yielded an income of $150 a month. With this money Miss Anna O'Hagan, for 21 years his secretary, cared for the aged pedestrian in his quarters in Brooklyn.

Weston began his career as a walker while serving as a spy in the Union army in the Civil war. Later his remarkable ability to cover ground enabled him to beat rival reporters when he was on the staff of the New York Herald. He was a friend of Horace Greeley and was at his deathbed.

His first long walk was at the age of 22 when he trudged from Boston to Washington to attend the inauguration of President Lincoln, covering the 443 miles in 208 hours.

He began his career as a professional walker in 1867 when he walked from Portland, Me., to Chicago, 1,826 miles in 26 days.

He took part in a great many contests and exhibitions in America and Europe. In 1879 he won the Astley belt in England by covering 550 miles in 141 hours and 44 minutes.

STATUES, VASES GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Furniture from VanNortwick Home Also Presented to Local Institution

A teak wood settee and table a Chinese and a Florentine chair, two large metal vases, two statues, and a large canvas scene of the Campagna, formerly in the Van Nortwick home, have been presented to the Appleton public library.

At present the settee, table, Chinese chair and vases are located in the main room of the library, the Florentine chair and a small statue of a boy plucking a thorn from his foot in the reference room, and the statue of the Shepherd Boy, on an ornate pedestal, in the children's room. They will remain in these rooms until more suitable quarters can be found for them, according to Miss Florence Day, librarian.

The furniture is all highly carved, the settee and table with dragons, lions, deer, and leaves, the Chinese chair with a dragon motif. The Florentine chair has a group of dancing children carved across the back, and cupid's heads on the arms. The vases are of a rich blue, and are placed on the mantel above the fire place in the main room. The picture will be placed in the library as soon as the frame has been repaired.

NOTHING CAN BE DONE ABOUT WET VOTE ERROR

Madison—(AP)—Although an error of 11,000 votes in the wet-dry referendum of April 2 has been found in Kenosha county and called to the attention of secretary of state Theodore Dammann, nothing can be done to change the official state canvass of the referendum results.

The law prescribes that after the official state canvassing board has tabulated election figures, no change can be made in them.

The official canvass, made a month ago, gave a majority of 133,235 votes to the wets.

In Kenosha county it was found that 11,000 votes too many had been credited the wets there, the error having occurred in copying figures.

Stomach Ulcers

"After suffering for more than 15 years with this painful serious trouble, with everything recommended a failure, the last advice being an operation with no assurance even then of permanent relief, I finally found a new idea of treatment that cured me in 60 days with no restriction in diet. I am so grateful for my relief that I want to help others by saying that your wonderful treatment should be in the hands of every person suffering from ulcers or a super-acid stomach."

Will gladly explain this treatment. Dept. A., MILWAUKEE VON CO., 233 East Juneau Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. adv.

SEEDING OF SMALL GRAIN COMPLETED NEAR THIS CITY

Many Farmers Breaking Surface Crust Over Early Seedings

By W. F. WINSEY

In the territory bounded by this city, Mackville, Humples Corners, and Greenville, farmers are through seeding small grain or will finish this week. Some of them are spreading manure on their corn ground. Very few have sown any alfalfa seed without mixing it with timothy, red clover and alsike. Nearly all have seeded considerable sweet clover, and all cabbage growers have planted their cabbage seed in beds. A number of farmers are breaking the surface crust that has formed over early seedings with disks or other machinery. Pastures are very backward on account of the cold weather and are supplying little feed for cattle now.

John Baum, route 4, Appleton, intends to plant 26 acres of canning beans for canning purposes as soon as the weather becomes favorable. The seed has not yet been distributed by the canning company. The picking season usually lasts about six weeks during which time Mr. Baum employs 148 people. As the weather improves, he expects to have a big yield. He says the time has come when the supply of barnyard manure on a farm is not sufficient to feed the crops raised, and commercial fertilizers must be used to make up the deficiency if past standards of yields are to be maintained on the farms.

Mr. Broehm has a good stand of a mixture of red clover and alsike clover and has sown six acres of sweet clover for pasture.

Mr. Broehm is raising geese as a sideline and is doing very well. Last year he raised a flock of 37.

MIXES TIMOTHY, ALSIKE

Joe Becker, route 3, Appleton, was to finish seeding small grain Tuesday. He will sow 12 acres of small grain and will plant 12 acres of corn. He has sown three acres of sweet clover for pasture and four acres of a mixture of red clover and alsike for hay. This season he will get his hay from 12 acres of mixed timothy and alsike. Next year he will have six acres of alsike and red clover for pasture. He is milking 12 cows.

Emil Jentz, route 3, Appleton, has finished seeding small grain consisting of 2 acres. He will plant 18 acres of corn and two acres of cabbage. He will seed eight acres with sweet clover this spring and three acres with alfalfa. He has eight acres of a mixture of sweet clover, timothy and alsike for pasture and 10 acres of alfalfa for hay. He has 30 hogs and very promising pasture in a hog lot. The lot is seeded with a mixture of alfalfa, red clover, alsike and timothy. He is breeding a herd of 23 Holsteins and now has 12 cows.

Gust Retzlaff, route 8, Appleton, was whitewashing his stables Friday. He is through seeding 20 acres of small grain. His grass has come through the winter and is in good condition. He expects to sow 10 acres of sweet clover. Although formerly a great raiser of alfalfa, he has not sown any alfalfa the past two years on account of repeated winterkilling. For pasture this year he has 10 acres of sweet clover of a fairly good stand. For hay he has 15 acres of mixed alfalfa, red clover, alsike and timothy. He will plant one and one-half acres of cabbage. He already has sown his cabbage seed. In his herd of 23 Holsteins are 16 milk cows. He has used a milker continuously the past 11 years.

John Knapstein, Greenville, finished seeding his small grain on Tuesday, and is now using a rotary hoe to break the surface crust of his early seedings. He says this machine for the purpose is much better than a drag. He has sown 56 acres of small grain and will sow 10 acres of alfalfa and plant 40 acres of corn. He sowed the seed for 8 acres cabbage last Thursday.

Early presence of porpoises off the Maine coast presages an early and abundant run of sardines, packers declare.

DON'T PASTURE ALFALFA FIRST FALL, IS ADVICE

Practice Weakens Crop and Makes It Liable to Winter-killing

By W. F. WINSEY

Although there is no crop that can be raised on an Outagamie county farm that begins to pay as well as alfalfa, farmers are giving up this crop because of winterkilling, the high price of seed, and other difficulties, says Walter H. Wiekert, route 4, proprietor of the Wiekert farms.

"There is no well drained, fertile farm in Outagamie county, however, on which alfalfa can not be raised in any quantity if cattle are kept off the new seedlings," said Mr. Wiekert. "If alfalfa is pastured the first fall, the strength of the plants are exhausted in repairing the damage done to the stems and leaves and no vitality remains to build up a root system able to carry the disabled plants through the winter. In other words most of the plant energy is removed by the cropping and tramping of the cattle. Winterkilling is the natural result of this sort of treatment of the tender plants."

Mr. Wiekert, who usually raises his own alfalfa seed, plans to have one-third of his tillable land in legumes each year, and to coat one-fourth of his land with barnyard manure. The manure and the legumes keep his soil in the condition of fertility on which making alfalfa a positive crop year after year depends in part.

Another feature of the Wiekert farming contributes to the successful raising of alfalfa. The proprietor is working up to the point where he can feed all the crops raised on the farm to farm animals. He is now feeding 63 registered Holstein animals but still is marketing a considerable quantity of grain and alfalfa hay. He recently shipped a carload of alfalfa hay from the Center Valley station and sold considerably to his neighbors. Later he was offered $30 a ton for his second cutting last year of alfalfa.

To carry out his purpose of feeding all his crops, Mr. Wiekert raises and keeps all the heifers of his best producing cows but sells the sons of these cows for breeding purposes. Last year he sold 18 registered bulls and has an equal number for sale this spring. He is not selling any cows.

He now has 30 acres of sweet clover and 32 acres of alfalfa that came through the winter in fine shape. The former will supply his cattle with pasture and the latter his cattle with hay. He recently seeded 32 acres more with sweet clover but will sow no more alfalfa this spring as his present acreage is large enough.

He has yet to sow 10 acres of a total of 70 acres of small grain. Although one of his silos is still full of corn, he expects to plant 25 acres of

ADVANCE OF CORN BORER IS SLOWER, TEACHER REPORTS

March of Disease Was Slowed Up Last Year—New Plows Aid Fight

By NOBLE CLARK

Wisconsin College of Agriculture

Due to rigorous quarantine regulations and careful control methods the onward march of the corn borer was slowed up in 1928.

Except in Canada where infection has now extended over the greater share of the province of Ontario, the principal spread has been along river valleys and in areas of humid marsh crops.

The first line trenches on the western front are still in Indiana. It is now generally admitted that the steady spread of the borer cannot be wholly stopped; that America is going to have to live with the borer, but our quarantine methods are likely to continue to be effective in delaying the spread of the pest so that adequate control measures may be evolved and put into use by the time the borer has become established throughout the corn growing regions of the United States.

The newly developed plows and other tillage machines have demonstrated their ability to destroy 99 per cent of the corn borer population, which means that borer damage is reduced to a negligible amount. This was accomplished by clean plowing without further hand picking of the fields following tillage.

These highly efficient methods of corn raising in the past have been in the wheat and barley scab infection and corn ear rots, and thus the corn borer control when properly carried out, the method results in substantial benefits aside from preventing borer damage. In 50 fields had been removed and put into the silo and the land well plowed, there was an average of 2.8 per cent barley scab, whereas 29 fields where barley was sown in poorly prepared corn land showed an average of 17.5 per cent scab. Barley containing 2.8 per cent scab can be used for hog

CLOVER CROP HAS EXCELLENT START

Farmer on Route 4 Reports Fine Stand He Will Use for Pasture

By W. F. WINSEY

John Taege, route 4, has excellent stands of sweet clover and alfalfa on his farm this spring. Nine acres of sweet clover he will use for pasture, and eight acres of alfalfa for hay. He usually puts his crop of sweet clover in his silo but this year he must pasture the field because his silo is still nearly filled with corn. He prefers to make silage of his sweet clover crop, however, and to feed it to his cattle in that way.

Mr. Taege seeded 10 acres of sweet clover and 10 acres of alfalfa this spring. He is through seeding his small grain and will plant 18 acres of corn.

In one part of his corn field, he usually plants a bushel of White Cap Yellow Dent corn which is an early ripening variety so that in case he has a surplus of corn after filling his silo he may have ripened corn to husk and crib. For silage he plants Wisconsin Golden Glow, No. 12 corn, grown for one season in Nebraska.

He is feeding 40 head of Holsteins including 28 milk cows. He is using the first milking machine in his territory installed 12 years ago.

Mr. Taege started raising canning peas this spring. The new viner is to be located on the corner one mile north of Mackville.

He makes his own ration for his dairy cows which consists of home-grown oats and barley in one-third bran. Besides the grain ration the cows get corn silage, all the alfalfa hay they can manage, and mangels. Last season, he raised 1,000 bushels of mangels. He feeds mangels once a day and as a result his cattle appear to relish their rough feed.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE WANTS CULVERT BIDS

Sealed bids are to be received by the county highway committee up to 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 21, on a carload of culverts which are to be used in road repairs in the county this season. The carload is to include two 45-inch culverts; two 36-inch culverts; 12 30-inch culverts; 20 24-inch culverts; six 18-inch culverts; and six 12-inch culverts. All must be 30 feet in length. Further information regarding the bids may be secured at the highway office.

The United States Department of Agriculture is continuing extensive studies upon the use of various parasites to fight the corn borer. These investigations are most interesting, but as yet there is no evidence which would indicate that such control by parasites would replace other control measures. At best the parasites will likely only supplement the other lines of attack.

Tragic deaths in Cuba last year—including accidents, suicides and the like—numbered 2,810.

"I SUFFERED 10 YEARS; KONJOLA MADE ME WELL"

Appleton Man Had Great Change in Health Since Taking Famous Medicine—Freed of Stomach Trouble

"Konjola was the medicine I should have had in the first place." How often this expression appears in the written or verbal endorsements of this new medicine, Konjola, that is creating such a furore in Appleton and vicinity.

MR. THEODORE BURNETTE
W. College Ave.

Day by day Konjola is adding to its fame and friends and there can be only one reason for the astounding success of this master medicine. That reason is that Konjola makes good—that it does all that is claimed for it. Just what Konjola has done, what it is doing and what it will do, is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Schlitz Brothers Drug Store, 114 West College Avenue, Appleton. He will tell you how each of Konjola's 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs of known medical value, has its own special duty to perform—working at the very root, the source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Soon the way is paved for the return of new, glorious and lasting health. Is there not a world of hope and cheer for all who suffer, in the glad statements of men and women who were made well through the use of Konjola? Then, read every word of the statement of Mr. Theodore Burnette, 1419 West Fourth Street, Appleton. Just a few days ago Mr. Burnette said to the Konjola Man:

"I suffered ten years and then Konjola made me well again and so I have nothing but praise for this really splendid medicine that triumphs when all else fails. All my troubles were confined to a disordered stomach. Everything I ate disagreed with me—even the lightest foods. Gas formed in such large quantities that I always had heartburn. Constipation added greatly to my suffering and soon my nerves, unable to stand up under the strain, became upset. The least thing irritated me. In fact, I was run down in general—weak and lacking energy. Of course, I tried many things seeking relief, but it seemed as though I was doomed to a life of misery for nothing ever helped me.

"When Konjola was first recommended I was inclined to be skeptical; to scoff at the idea of this medicine helping me. Had not all others failed utterly? But my friends insisted that I give it a trial, and more to please them than anything else, I decided to do so. That was the wisest move I could have made, for Konjola went right to work, and before long I noticed a wonderful improvement. It took but a few bottles of this medicine to restore my digestion and to increase my appetite. The gas bloating and heartburn are things of the past. Nervousness and constipation are ended, too. In every way Konjola has benefited me and I endorse it as the master medicine."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients, for Konjola is all medicine, every drop, and every drop works.

The Konjola Man is at the Schlitz Brothers Drug Store, 114 West College Avenue, Appleton, where he is meeting the public daily introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

George Uhle Beats Macks For Sixth Straight Win

CUBS COME FROM BEHIND TO BEAT BOSTON BRAVES

Giants Drop to Seventh Place When Blanked by Adolph Luque

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer
If you don't believe the old saw about the benefits of a change in scenery consider the case of George Uhle, now throwing up his right hand slants for Buck Harris' Detroit Tigers.

For ten years Uhle did all his work for the Cleveland Indians and very good work it was for the first eight of them. After a sensational season in 1926 when he won 27 games and lost eleven, Uhle slid back in alarming fashion. He won only eight games against nine defeats in 1927 and only 12 against 17 reverses last season. Apparently at odds with their quondam star right-hander, Cleveland officials traded him to Detroit during the winter for Ken Halloway and Jackie Tavener.

Under Buck Harris' soothing influence at Detroit, Uhle has come back with a bang this year. Beating the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3, Uhle chalked up his sixth victory with a 4 to 0 shutout in the best of either major league.

Despite their defeat, the Athletics held on to a tie for first place, for the Yankees obligingly lost their third straight time to Cleveland by a 4 to 3 count. Hudlin gave the champions only three hits in the first eight innings and stuck to his guns in the ninth to quell an uprising that ended with the tying run on base. Babe Ruth hit safely in his thirteenth consecutive game.

Behind fine pitching by Danny MacFayden, the Boston Red Sox bunched three hits off Grady Adkins in the fourth inning to down the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1.

Rain washed out the St. Louis Washington game.
Over in the National league the Chicago Cubs bounced back into first place with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Boston Braves while the lowly Phillies were beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 9.

The Braves hopped on Clarence Jonnard for two hits in the first inning and with two cub errors and a base on balls scored four runs. Charley Root then relieved Jonnard and held the Braves scoreless the rest of the way while the Cubs were pecking away at Sox Seibold for the winning tally in the third and seventh innings.

Barney Friberg's double with the bases filled in the ninth enabled the Phils to win an uphill struggle from five runs in the eighth but Cy Williams' pinch-hit home run with one on accounted for two runs in the ninth and more came across in the tenth.

At New York, John McGraw's Giants were blanked by Rolf Luque and the Cincinnati Reds and dropped into seventh place in the standing. Luque held the New Yorkers to six scattered hits and added insult to injury by poling out a homer in the sixth.

The Pittsburgh Pirates clouted four Brooklyn pitchers for 18 hits and an easy 12 to 4 decision and thereby moved up to a tie with Boston for third place while the Dodgers were sinking deeper into the cellar. Larry French, young sloop-pitcher, pitched steady ball for the Corsairs.

The scores.

TENNIS STAR SAILS IN EUROPEAN QUEST

Helen Jacobs, No. 2, in National Rankings to Play at Wimbledon

New York (AP)—Helen Jacobs, No. 2 in the national women's tennis ranking, sails on the Berenaria Wednesday night for Europe where she will join a number of her compatriots in an invasion of foreign courts.

Miss Jacobs, who will be accompanied by Evelyn Collier and Mrs. John Hill, former members of the British Wightman cup team, plans to compete in the French championships at Auteuil May 20, in team matches against a probed German squad, June 7, 8 and 9 and in the Wimbledon championships, June 21.

Tied For State Crown

Two hundred girls tried their luck at free throwing in the inter-gym class tournament. Twenty-five trials were given and Bluebell Ryan, sophomore, dropped 18 shots giving her first place, with Monica Van Ryzin second making 16, and Genevieve Kron schnabel third with 15.

The five high scorers in the tournament put in two weeks of intensive practice and on March 22, represented the school in the annual state free throwing tournament. This team is the only girls interscholastic team in school due to the W. I. A. ruling against interscholastic competition for girls.

Results of the 1929 contest gave Appleton girls a tie for first place with Shawano.

Claim Sonnenberg Is Easy For Wise Guy

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
HEN DER GUS SONNENBERG made a flying football tackle and dropped Strangler Lewis for the loss of his heavyweight wrestling championship, few of the rascals did not ridicule his pretensions to be classed as a real wrestler.

It was said that he was a clown wrestler and that he didn't know any "holts." It was also said in whispers that Lewis had held the title as long as the union rules would permit.

The veteran coach of wrestling at a middle-western college said that even with the load of all his years as a hand-pick he could throw Sonnenberg and that he knew of two or three novices who had thrown a new champion all over the beach.

Hagen draws fans to Moortown meet. American Professional Has Increased Popularity by Ryder Victory.

Moortown, Eng.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, four times winner of the British open championship, was the magnet which drew great crowds of golfing fans to the Moortown Club Tuesday for the thousand guineas professional tournament.

Hagen's victory in the open at Moortown after losing in the Ryder cup matches, has increased the American wizard's popular appeal tremendously and as an attraction in the British sports world he far eclipses the most favored of island golfers.

Other Americans entered in the tournament were Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Ed Dudley, Horton Smith, Al Watrous, Joe Turnesa, Diegel, Johnny Golden and Bill Mehlhorn.

Eurosday's schedule consisted of the first 18 holes of qualifying round play, Wednesday the second and final 18 holes in the qualifying round will be played. The low 32 begin match play Thursday with two 18-hole eliminations, two more on Friday and the final rounds struggle at 36 holes on Saturday.

BELANGER AGAIN CANUCK FLYWEIGHT

Beats Johnny Hill When Seconds Toss in Towel in Sixth Round

Toronto, Ont.—(AP)—The Canadian flyweight crown again has passed into the hands of Albert (Frenchy) Belanger, of Toronto.

Belanger, who lost the title to Johnny Hill in a recent bout at Montreal, regained the championship Monday night when he stopped Hill in the sixth round of a ten-round triller match. Hill was outwrestled but he put up as gallant a battle as Toronto boxing fans have seen.

He was floored seven times at least once in every round but the fourth, before his seconds tossed in the towel to save him from further punishment.

PLAY STARTED IN LEGION BASEBALL LEAGUE MONDAY

Youngsters Battle at Interlake and Brandt Parks; Juniors, Aces Win

JUNIOR LEAGUE

W. L. Pct.
Juniors	1 0 1.000
Aces	1 0 1.000
Cards	0 1 .000
Cubs	0 1 .000

MONDAY'S RESULTS
Junior 10, Cubs 2.
Aces 15, Cards 10.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME
Aces vs. Cubs at Interlake park, 5:15.

Play in the junior baseball league sponsored by Oney Johnston post of the American legion and from whose members, the post team will be picked for the district baseball tournament, was started at Interlake and Brandt parks Monday evening. The Juniors and Cubs battled at Interlake park, the Aces and Cards at Brandt park.

The Juniors and Cubs are rivals from last year and battled on even terms until the fifth inning when a couple of errors and Priebe's wildness gave the Juniors four runs. Mortell, hurrying for the Juniors got a homer.

Both Mortell and Priebe hurled good ball, Priebe's wildness leading to his downfall.

Score by innings:
Juniors . . . . . 0 0 2 0 4 3 0—10
Cubs . . . . . 3 0 0 0 0 0—2

Batteries—Juniors, Mortell and Pope, Cubs Priebe and Huhn.

The battle between the Aces and Cards was a slugfest with the Aces winning by a 15 to 10 count. Both teams are newcomers in Junior baseball but probably will make things interesting for other teams before play is over.

BREWER HURLER SHUTS OUT HENS

Herbert Cobb, Formerly of St. Louis Browns, Makes Milwaukee Debut

Chicago (AP)—Dutch Zwilling's Kansas City Blues were back in the American association lead Monday by the skimpy margin of six percentage points.

The Blues' return to the top was accomplished by Indianapolis' defeat of Minneapolis Monday, while Kansas City was named out of its engagement with Columbus but the Blues have lost six, one less than the Millers.

A seventh inning uprising which threatened to sweep away an early Indianapolis lead was halted by Love, fourth Indian pitcher to appear, and Bruno Betzel's team won 7 to 6.

The defeat was Minneapolis' second this year on its own field. Herbert Cobb, turned over to Milwaukee by St. Louis Browns last week made his bow before Brewer fans by shutting out Toledo 5 to 0.

Wingard and Tayworth, Cobb and McMenmy.

New York (AP)—K O Phil Kaplan Newark, outpointed Babe McGarragh, Oklahoma middleweight (10). Mike McTigue, outpointed Paul Hoffman, (10).

May Stop Major Leagues Buying Clubs For Farms

BY JOHN B. FOSTER Copyright 1929
NEW YORK—Rumors of a drastic revision of the rules of organized baseball are in the air.

It is in the wind that no major league club will be allowed to own more than two minor league clubs, or fractions of such clubs.

This is a slap at two controlling factors in baseball. One of them is the St. Louis National league club, with its eight or nine minor league clubs. The other is the New York Americans. The Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns also may have to draw in their horns as legends owning minor league clubs.

ROLLIE WILLIAMS GETS BARRY'S JOB

Former University of Wisconsin Cage Star to Coach U. of Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa—Rollie F. (Rollie) Williams, assistant coach for the last five years, was named to the position of head basketball coach at the University of Iowa, with the rank of assistant professor of physical education, Monday.

Williams, who resigned last month to accept a similar position at the University of Southern California.

The new Hawkeye mentor is 31 years old, one of the youngest coaches in the Western conference. Before coming to Iowa as assistant coach of basketball, football and baseball in 1924, Williams coached for a year at Millikin university, Decatur, Ill.

He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1923, after winning three major letters in basketball, football and baseball. He was all-Western running guard in basketball and also won all-Western honors as a halfback on the Badger football eleven during his undergraduate career.

president, says his club was forced to enter into it as the only way in which he could meet the $50,000, $60,000 and $100,000 prices for ball players. "We couldn't buy 'em at those prices and so we decided to raise 'em," he affirms. Now he has eight hot houses working overtime.

National league men say the Yankees have more than 100 ball players more or less contracted for and controlled here and there throughout the United States. It seems like an excessive number but owners of clubs other than New York, say they bump into evidences of it every now and then. It is said the Athletics have weaved a bit of cobweb on their own account and that the St. Louis Browns have not been idle. Ostensibly they control just so many players but they have agreements here and there with youngsters who are not quite ready to spread their wings.

"If this thing is not stopped," said one of the more prominent National league owners, "this game of baseball will get so that National league men will have to depend upon the kindness of their own associates to get players and American league men will sit back with their nets full and tell the National league owners to go fishing. When it gets that way I'm through. Some influence must step in and put an end to this bugging of ball players by special interest groups."

Fight Promoters Flock To Sign Max Schmeling

BY JOHN J. ROMANO Copyright 1929
NEW YORK—Max Schmeling is the darling of the Goddess of Luck, Unknown and unwanted less than a year ago, Schmeling is attended by a waiting party of notables in Montreal befitting a champion, and not a bally fighter who has shown little respect for the rules of the august members of the boxing commission of this state. The party of sports dignitaries who are eating humble pie and catering to the whims of the German scrappers are not a bit less important than the party Tex Rickard assembled and took half way across the continent to witness the signing of the champion to a contract to meet Jack Dempsey two years ago.

Schmeling has had his own way about things and what will happen should he emerge victorious over Paulino Uzcudun next month makes one shudder. If an outsider with no claim to a title, not even that of his own country, can dictate terms to the local boxing commission and force them to accede to his demands what will happen if that party should attain the title? Your guess is as good as any.

Schmeling has cut loose from the man who brought him to this country, saved him up while his broken hand mended and in return gathers in the best part of a million dollars. This in spite of the fact that the local commission once ruled his contract with Arthur Bulow was a legal one and was the only one recognized in this state. All that is now changed and Bulow is out in the cold. Just because Schmeling said he would stay in the old country rather than fight under the direction of his old manager. He won out in the face of any argument put before him and can go through with the Paulino fight with the full sanction of the boxing commission.

If it comes to pass that Herr Mulow starts legal machinery going to prevent Schmeling from plying his trade the latter means to return to the waterland with the fruits of his contest with Paulino. And if the courts decide against him he means to stay out of the game until his present contract expires. By that time he may not care to fight again but he will be well fixed financially. Dollars translated into marks make for a comfortable living in Germany.

Then again there is nothing to keep him from fighting in Europe and with a victory over Paulino to his credit he would be able to command good sized purses.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERS STATE TRACK MEET

Best Men in Each Event Will Be Taken to Madison, May 25

Appleton high school entries in the state track meet at Madison, were forwarded to Badger authorities Monday by Coach Joseph R. Shields. The state meet will be held at Camp Randall Saturday, May 25.

The ten best men in each event have been entered in the meet according to Coach Shields. Several of the youngsters who are immediate choices for places among the select group are Batley, half mile, Neller, pole vault; Heckert and Marston high jump; Marston hurdles and Poppy shot put.

Coach Shields figures that he is unable to take such a big squad south for the event and that the best men in each event will be a more select group. Showings of the youngsters next week in practice and at the Lawrence meet Saturday will determine the men Shields will take with him.

PIRATES MAY BUY MISSION'S INFIELDER

San Francisco—Joe Bevine, scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, has recommended the purchase of Gordon Slade, crack young shortstop of the San Francisco Mission Reds, for delivery next spring. Bevine believes the coast league star has all the qualifications to make good in the major circuits. Last week in seven games, Slade accepted 68 chances without an error and hit an average of .400 in 30 times at bat, he hit safely 12 times, five being two baggers and one a home run. He also figured in nine double plays.

ORANGE LOSES IN DUAL TRACK MEET

Count Almost Tied When Shipbuilders Take "Slam" in Javelin Toss

Manitowoc—Coming from behind and scoring "slams" in the one mile run and javelin, the Red and White track squad of Lincoln high school upset the dope a trifle Saturday afternoon, in a dual meet with Appleton at Lincoln field here and won 63½ to 52½ points.

When the final event of the program the javelin was called, Manitowoc clung to a slender one point lead 54½ to 53½. When it got down to the finals in this event there were three Manitowoc contestants, Kohls, Gorychka and Brey and one Appletoner, the clad, Crane. The three local lads all headed the spear farther than Crane was able to get and took all three places, clinching the meet.

Manitowoc forged to the front for the first time when the three crack mlers of the Red and White went out and won the mile for a "slam" in this event, which added nine points to the Manitowoc total. O'Neil won the event with Paulus at his heels and Belz coming up on the last turn to pass. De Young, the only dangerous Appleton runner and taking third.

ILLINOIS HAMMERS WISCONSIN HURLERS

Get 13 Hits and Romp Off With Ballgame, 8 and 4; Wolves Are Idle

Chicago (AP)—With help from Illinois and the weather, Michigan's hold on the leadership of the Big Ten baseball race Tuesday was a little more firm.

While rain prevented the Wolverines' tilt with Ohio State Monday, Illinois put another crimp in Wisconsin's hope by giving Michigan a tussle for the title, stung by a previous defeat by the Badgers, Ill. nois bannered two pitchers for 13 hits for an 8 to 4 victory over Coach Lowman's pupils. The beating dropped Wisconsin into a three way tie for second place with Indiana and Iowa.

Rain also caused cancellation of the Indiana Northwestern meeting at Bloomington.

Michigan will defend its record of two victories and no defeats twice this weekend. If rain does not interfere, The Wolverines will invade Purdue Friday, and will engage Northwestern Saturday at Evanston. Chicago will attempt to shake Iowa out of the second place tie Wednesday.

COLLETT SURVIVES THIRD ROUND PLAY

Weather Conditions Almost Ruin Glenna's Quest to British Title

St. Andrews, Scotland.—(P)—Glenna Collett, American champion, advanced to the third round of the British women's golf championship Tuesday by defeating Miss Maude Bryant, of the Ashford Manor club, near London, 4 and 2.

Her triumph was Miss Collett's second in the championship. She defeated Marjorie White of Roehampton, 5 and 3 in a first round encounter Monday.

The American title-holders victory was scored in weather conditions somewhat similar to those that were partially responsible for her elimination in an early round of the British championship of last year. She had to contend with a stiff southeast wind from the first tee to the last and a pelting rain, which started just as she rounded the turn made conditions even worse.

Miss Collett pulled out her match with Miss Bryant largely because of the decided superiority of her long game. On the greens the English girl more than held her own.

Marion Hollins, former American champion, defeated Miss P. Ramsay, a Northumberland player, four and three, and pined her compatriot, Miss Collett, in the third round.

Joyce Wethered, British star, three-winner of the championship, crushed Mrs. D. G. Madull under a score of eight and seven.

PLAY TWO TOURNEYS HERE THIS SUMMER

Officers Ask State Pros to Hold Open Meet at Butte
des Morts

Two golf tournaments will be played at Butte des Morts golf club this summer and an invitation has been extended to officers of a third to play their meet on the local course, according to club officers.

The Northwestern Wisconsin Women's tournament will be held at Butte des Morts on July 9, 10 and 11, according to a decision to be set later. If the legions come here this summer it will mark the first time the course has been used by the war vets.

Directors of the course have extended an invitation to the Wisconsin Professional Golfers' association to hold its open tournament here this year. Frank Walsh is the state titlist having copped the honor last year at Milwaukee. Walsh has finished two, three in the meet for several years and last season annexed the crown.

MINNESOTA GOLFERS BEAT U. OF IOWA

Minneapolis.—(P)—Lester Bolstad, captain, coach and general manager of the University of Minnesota golf team, was almost the whole thing Monday when Minnesota defeated the University of Iowa team 17 12 to 6 1-2.

In the morning play Bolstad defeated McCarrell of Iowa in two nine-hole rounds. In the afternoon he paired with Bill Fowler, of Fargo, N. Dak., and broke par by one stroke to score 69 for the 18 holes.

JOE ROCHE TO MEET CLEVELAND NEGRO

Los Angeles.—(P)—Joe Roche, San Francisco Italian, will turn his knockout punch on Wilson Yarbo, hard hitting Cleveland Negro in a ten round bout here Tuesday night. Roche has been mentioned as a possible opponent for Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, if he defeats Yarbo.

ROCKNE TO BE TRACK JUDGE AT BIG 10 MEET

Chicago.—(P)—Former Senator Charles Rawson, of Iowa, has been named as referee for the annual Big Ten track and field championships at Northwestern university, May 24 and 25. Coach Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, will serve as chief judge.

Toronto.—Albert (Frenchy) Belanger, Stopped Johnny Hill, Montreal, Canadian flyweight champion, (6), (title).

GABBY HARTNETT HAS TONSILS YANKED TUESDAY

Chicago.—(P)—Leo "Gabby" Hartnett, incapacitated backstop star of the Cubs Tuesday was in a Chicago hospital for removal of his tonsils.

Hartnett hasn't caught in a game all spring because of a lame arm, but physicians have traced his trouble to his tonsils. He expects to join the Cubs in Chicago within two weeks.

"I am quite certain Hartnett will be ready to play after his tonsils have been removed," William Yeck, president of the Cubs, said. "That home run he crashed out when pinch hitting against the Giants Sunday with two men on base has encouraged him. And encouragement is half of it."

DERBY HORSES SHOW CLASS IN PRELIMS

Wet, Sloppy Track Fails to Slow Up Favorites for Saturday

Louisville, Ky.—(P)—With a sloppy, though hard-bottomed track prevailing at Churchill Downs, indications that a heavy if not muddy condition may continue up to the running of the fifty-fifth Kentucky Derby Saturday, is attracting keen interest among horsemen here.

Blue Larkspur, Colonel Edward R. Bradley's winter-book favorite, and his stablemate, Bay Beauty, also entered in the classic, dispelled all doubts as to their ability to run in the mud when they went the mile route Monday in impressive fashion. Blue Larkspur negotiated the quarter in 24 3/5 and the half in 50 2/5, while Bay Beauty finished in 50 4/5.

Nashpur, Chicotte, Windy City and Flori were other candidates who went various distances through the slop in such a way as to increase the confidence of their backers.

Twelve of the Derby candidates will be seen in action under colors in the trial, the mile feature race at the downs Tuesday, and the result will be watched with the greatest interest by turfmen.

MANDELL SIGNS BUT WON'T RISK TITLE

Chicago.—(P)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, has been matched with Jack Berg of England in a 10 round bout May 28. The battle, which will not involve Mandell's title, will open Chicago's outdoor boxing season.

Washington, Pa.—Tony Herrera, Chicago, knocked out Ray Newton, Mansfield, O., (6).

Kansas City.—Bebe Strubling outpointed Joe Trabon, Kansas City, (10).

Sports Question Box

Question—Is it true that Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, is president of the Boston Bruins hockey team. If he was, has he resigned?

Answer—He has not resigned and is still president.

Question—Is Fidel La Barba a student at Stanford? If so, how can he be fighting away from the school?

Answer—No. La Barba dropped out but intends to resume his studies this fall.

Question—Batter up. No balls or strikes on him. A fast breaking curve hits him on the first or second pitched ball as he swings. Is he out?

Answer—No. It could not have been the third strike. Read rule 49, section 5.

HELEN JACOBS SOON TO SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Berkeley, Calif.—(P)—Helen Jacobs, second ranking woman tennis player of this country was en route Friday to New York whence she will sail for England to compete in the Wimbledon championships.

The Berkeley girl's mother will accompany her as far as the east coast. Miss Jacobs is the greatest rival of Helen Wills, the champion. She goes abroad fortified with a far stronger game than last year. Those who followed her progress last winter believe the Wimbledon finals will be contested between her and Miss Wills.

VIKING TENNIS SQUAD LOSES TO MARQUETTE

Marquette tennis team took all matches from Lawrence college net squad Saturday afternoon in the second inter collegiate meet for the Vikings. The game was played at Neenah on hard courts because courts at Lawrence college were too wet from heavy rains. Seven matches in singles and doubles were played and the invaders copped them all.

COMBS CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Cleveland.—(P)—Earl B. Combs, star outfielder for the New York Yankees, was 28 years old Tuesday. Combs, one of the greatest lead-off men in baseball, was born at Pembroke, Ky., in 1901.

Memphis.—Charlie Feraci, New Orleans, outpointed Alex Simms, Cleveland, (8).

New Orleans.—Manuel Quintero, Tampa, stopped Tommy O'Brien, Milwaukee, (5).

SUGAR INTERESTS MISQUOTE LABOR

Frear Uncovers Effort of "Trust" to Misrepresent
President Green

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Washington Bureau of Post-Crescent)

Washington.—An alleged attempt on the part of certain beet sugar interests to misrepresent the stand of the American Federation of Labor on the sugar tariff has been uncovered by Representative James A. Frear of Hudson.

Pointing out that he has received "a lot of unfair propaganda put out by certain beet sugar interests in favor of an increase in the tariff on sugar," Representative Frear set out to investigate a quotation from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, which he found in a circular headed, "The 'Consumer' and the Sugar Tariff." Statement of William Green, President, the American Federation of Labor.

Representative Frear looked into the matter, and found that the quotation was taken from President Green's testimony before the Senate Committee on Agriculture when the sugar tariff was not an issue. Organized labor had taken no position on the sugar tariff, Representative Frear found.

Representative Frear declares that the Great Western Sugar Company of Colorado produces 58 per cent of all the domestic beet sugar, that it makes profits of more than 20 per cent, that the high tariff on sugar was put into the bill because Representative Charles E. Timberlake of Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the sugar schedule, has 16 of the Great Western's mills in his congressional district, that the Great Western uses "an army of beet field Mexican and child labor," that the increased tariff will wipe out the independent beet sugar producer in the United States, and that it is "highway robbery" of 120,000,000 consumers, 30,000,000 of whom are farmers.

CALIFORNIA SOLONS AT TELEPHONE PROBE

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—A state senate resolution requesting the United States senate to investigate the organization and operation of telephone companies was passed by the assembly yesterday. The original resolution specifically referred to practices and rates of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and its subsidiary the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, but after being amended merely asked congress to conduct a federal investigation of the affairs of all telephone companies.

CANINE JUMPS AND DOG CATCHER GOES THROUGH BIG WINDOW

Chicago.—(P)—Curbing the curs becomes, as time goes on, more and more a precarious profession.

It was hardly a week ago that Evanston's dog catcher damaged his digits diving for a dog that turned out to be an iron ornament; and now John Sullivan, canine collector for Oakpark—another of Chicago's doggy suburbs—plunges through $100 worth of plate glass window in an attempt to master a mite of a mutt.

Sullivan cornered the creature in front of the big show window of the Cranal Motor Car company. He sprang at the dog in the most approved fashion, but the dog sprang, too. Sullivan kept on going right through the window. He was picking glass from his clothing long after the dog was two miles away and still running.

Fortunately, Sullivan was not hurt. Someone, however, owes the Cranal Motor company $100.

'COLOR SHELLS' ARE BY AMERICAN NAVY IN TACTICAL GAME

San Pedro, Calif.—(P)—The dreadnaught squadron of the United States battle fleet was settling itself in port here again today after completing force practice—its supreme tactical effort—off the coast of California and Mexico.

The thunder, flame and smoke of the huge naval batteries were given an added dash of technical interest by "color shells," the production and use of which is being held a close secret by the navy authorities. The shell bursts of the various ships engaged could be observed in flashes of variegated colors—a separate hue for each ship. Officers today declined to make any statement regarding the success of the tests.

The maneuvers comprised an attack on an "enemy fleet," simulated by a shadow-line of raft targets scurrying along the horizon in tow of the U. S. S. Medusa. As eight dreadnaughts loosed tons of steel at the fleeing targets, "enemy destroyers" stormed out of a smoke screen and disappeared again into their protecting clouds of black. Squadrons of low flying torpedo planes swooped in and out of the smoke and swarms of fighting planes circled and dived above them, in dummy efforts to drive off the torpedo carrying aircraft. Spotting planes, launched from the deck of the U. S. S. Saratoga, airplane carrier, flew high above the "enemy" squadron to observe the fall of shot.

A. I. VERGOWE IS DEAD AT NEW LONDON

Active Lodge and Church Worker Succumbs to Heart Attack

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—A. I. Vergowe, 78, for many years a resident of this city died at his home on Smith-st at 10:30 on Monday morning. Mr. Vergowe suffered a stroke late last summer, but had sufficiently recovered to be about the city. He suffered a heart attack last Thursday evening.

Mr. Vergowe is survived by his widow, two daughters, Miss Ida of this city and Mrs. Robert Grundeman of Appleton; four sons, Howard A. of Milwaukee, Milton S. of Orlando, Fla., Will F. of Kimberly, B. C. Burton of Chicago.

Mr. Vergowe was born in Zealand, Holland, Nov. 30, 1850. At the age of twelve years he came to this country with an uncle. Settling in New York state, he worked at odd jobs and succeeded in gaining a livelihood and a common school education. Moving westward in 1870 he sought work in Marinette, Wis., and it was there that he married Miss Mary Fairman of Rochester, N. Y. The family came to New London in 1901. Mr. Vergowe was active in the affairs of the Congregational church. He was a Mason, and for thirty five years was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America. For fifty years he has been active in the affairs of the I. O. O. F. lodge, and upon the occasion of his fiftieth wedding anniversary in 1925 was presented with a gold medal.

In Which Monsted Gets Tip On Trout Fishing

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—It's the early bird that catches the worm and its the country boy in jeans, equipped with a bamboo pole and grub or worm from under a log who catches the trout. At least that is the opinion of Dr. J. W. Monsted who recently returned from a trip near Lilly. All day long the doctor fished, using brilliant flies and exhausting his entire supply of fancy tackle along with his fishing patience and fortitude. Trout simply would not bite. "And then," said the doctor, along the path came a boy, whistling along you know—just the way he whistled might have told me—but then, how could I know? "Got any fish, sonny," I asked. "Sure," he answered and he brought two great big trout. Gosh, they were beauties!"

"You fellows don't know anything about fishing," he told us, the scorn just running off his tongue. "Why, when we want fish up here, we don't need no wanted rod and reel. We don't have a creel or waders. The Lord never meant for humans to go splashing around in water to catch fish. He meant us to sit on the bank and—say come on and I'll show you how it's done."

So we followed him back downstream 'til we came to a log across the stream, about half covered with water. The youngster dropped in his line and before you could bat an eye a great big son-of-a-gun-of-a-bait was splashing in the leaves and we hadn't a thing to say. He added the third to his day's catch and sauntered away, saying "Sure, they're always hanging around logs like that. All you gotta do is catch 'em."

METHODISTS HOLD VACATION SCHOOL

Children from All Denominations Invited to Enroll in School

Waupaca—The Waupaca Methodist church will conduct its fifth daily Vacation Bible school this summer. This movement on the part of the modern church is in response to the need of more moral and religious training for the youth of today.

The school will be conducted for three weeks, mornings only, beginning Monday, June 2. A able corps of instructors and helpers will have charge, and the courses followed will cover the subjects of Bible study, hymns, worship and Christian living. Supervised recreation will have its proper place in the full development of a well rounded character.

The enrollment is not to be confined to scholars of the particular Sunday school where the school is held but is open to all. Scholars who have had the first year's grade work in the public school and up to the seventh and eighth grades may enroll.

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSES FIRE WHICH BURNS CAR

Chilton—A automobile belonging to Paul Forstner, an elderly farmer, burned about 2 o'clock Sunday night in front of the Forstner home. A passerby who discovered the fire turned in the alarm, but the fire department was unable to save it. It is thought that the fire was caused from a short circuit. The loss is estimated at $500.

Three roads in district No. 5 in the town of Charlestown was closed on Friday, and on Sunday a picnic was held for the pupils and patrons of the district. The school was held for the past year by Miss Clara Buboltz of Brillion.

Special Mother's day services were held in the Presbyterian and Lutheran churches on Sunday morning. At 9:30 a program was given by the children of the Presbyterian Sunday school and at 10:30 the Rev. Davis of Grand Junction, Iowa, conducted the services.

At 10 o'clock there were services in the Ebenezer Reformed church, the speaker being Dr. Louis Hesser of the Mission House in Franklin. The children of the Sunday school also gave a program, and every mother attending the services was presented with a carnation.

The Rev. H. G. Purchas of Fond du Lac conducted services in St. Boniface Episcopal church. This will be his last Sunday here, as he will shortly assume charge of the Episcopal church in Sparta.

Mrs. Edward Landgraf and Miss Irma Oelke entertained at a tea bridge at the home of the former on Park-st at five o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Eight tables were in play, and prizes were awarded to Miss Elise Gallet, Mrs. William Paulsen, Miss Mary McMullen, Miss Corinne McMullen and Miss Helen Gallet.

Miss Ruth Steinmetz was taken ill on Thursday and was taken to St. Agnes' hospital in Fond du Lac where on Friday she submitted to an operation for appendicitis. Her condition is reported to be favorable.

Miss Anna Magnusson, who has been making her home with her sister Mrs. William Paulsen for a number of years, left Sunday for Ripon, where she will reside in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacIntosh and two children of Evanston, Ill., who have been visiting Mrs. MacIntosh's parents Mr. and Mrs. Anton Herzog for the past two weeks, left on Friday for Winnipeg, Canada, to make their home. Mrs. MacIntosh, before her marriage, was Miss Irene Herzog and resided in Chilton.

Miss Marie Klovdstad, who has been in the Wisconsin General hospital in Madison since March, submitted to a major surgical operation last week. Her condition, which was reported to be very critical, is showing a great deal of improvement.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Winkler, Sr. who died at her home on Spring-st on Friday, was held at 9 o'clock Monday morning with the Rev. H. E. Hunck in charge. Burial was in St. Mary cemetery. The bearers, six grandsons of the deceased, were Victor, Eugene, Sylvester and Leonard Winkler, Dorey McHugh and James Weeks.

Those from out of town who attended were Mrs. Frank Bausch, Mrs. H. E. Hunck, Dr. J. W. Monsted, Mrs. Charles Lansing of Neenah; Mrs. Anna Landsort and son Mathew, Mathew Emerich, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emerich, John Emerich, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Emerich of Peebles; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stadtmueller and son Joseph of Oshkosh; Mrs. Hubert Guellig of Lena; Mrs. Eddie Dietrich and Frank Keppel of Hortonville.

REPAYING KINDNESS
New York—Fifteen years ago, Walter W. Thorne, then sitting on top of the business world, befriended him by giving him a job as salesman.

Thorne later suffered a financial crash. He was in need of aid. Knoradian had meanwhile prospered, and when the two men met recently, he returned the kindness, showed him by Thorne by giving the latter a good job.

STUDENT BAND TO PLAY IN CONTEST

Stage Pastry Sale to Provide Funds to Pay Expenses to Tourney Center

Seymour—On Saturday afternoon the Seymour high school band held its annual pastry sale at the Seymour Cash and Carry store. A total of $105 was made. The proceeds of the pastry sale are to go toward paying the expenses for the band on their trip to Stevens Point where they have entered the state band contest to be held Friday and Saturday, May 17-18. Sixty-five bands are entered. The tournament consists of four classes, A, B, C, and D, according to numbers of years experience the bands have had. The Seymour band is in class "C" in which there will be 11 bands. The band will leave Thursday afternoon. Forty-five members and Leland Forrester, director, making the trip.

On Friday morning the band will give its concert. On Friday afternoon they will take part in the marching contest.

The class play, "Oh Kay," given last Tuesday and Thursday by the senior high school was a great success. The auditorium was filled both nights. Over $85 was cleared.

COUNCIL TO STUDY GYMNASIUM PLANS WITH COMMISSION

Joint Meeting Is Scheduled for 8 O'clock Tuesday Evening

Kaukauna — There will be a joint meeting of the common council, board of education, and the utilities commission at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the council chambers in the municipal building to discuss several plans for a high school gymnasium and auditorium.

At a meeting of the board of education last week two plans were broached and a committee was appointed to appear before the council. The council decided upon the joint meeting.

One of the plans proposes borrowing $50,000 of the $100,000 insurance received by the city on the death of J. O. Posson, with the board paying it back at the rate of $5,000 every year, which would be saved with the present budget plan for the schools.

The other plan is to bond the city for $50,000, using the interest of the $100,000 insurance money to pay off the bonds and interest.

The school was denied a gymnasium several years ago when it was put up to a vote of the people. The issue was voted down three to one. The plans will be informally discussed at a dinner at 6:30 in the high school.

FORMER KAUKAUNA BOYS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Kaukauna — Word has been received here from Los Angeles, Calif., that Raymond and Gordon Kettenhofen, sons of the late N. Kettenhofen of this city, were killed in an airplane crash near that city. The boys are the nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kettenhofen, Taylor-st.

Raymond was a radio repairman and amateur pilot while his brother, Gordon, was a bank teller. They had borrowed a plane which crashed when they were caught in a wind-storm.

HEAR ARGUMENTS ON RATES MAY 25

State's Points Will Be Presented Before Interstate Commission

Madison — (AP) — The Wisconsin argument on rates to points in the southwestern part of the United States will be presented before the Interstate commerce commission representatives in Chicago, May 25. It was decided at a recent conference there.

The rates under discussion were once approved by the national commerce regulating body, but on plea of Wisconsin manufacturers, farm representatives and shippers, the

City Treasury Pared $13,000 Last Month

Kaukauna — Funds in the city treasury decreased by approximately $13,000 in April, according to the monthly report of Joseph Dietzler, city treasurer. Receipts for the month totaled about $41,000 and disbursements were about $54,000. There is a balance of $207,952.91. The balance at the end of March was $221,148.71.

Money turned in by the electric department amounted to $31,923.39. The water department paid in $4,253.55. Tuition paid by the town of Buchanan amounted to $1,309.80. Other receipts were of small amounts for miscellaneous items, such as taxes, tuition and bank interest.

The contingent fund was reduced from $100,000 at the beginning of April to $123,323.16 at the end of the month. Disbursements totaled $7,234.26 while the receipts were about $200.

Disbursements in the north road district fund were $700 and there were no receipts. The fund is overdrawn $5,786.53. The south road district is also overdrawn $88,663.67. Disbursements during the month amounted to about $740 while the receipts were about $100.

No money was paid in the north sewer district fund while the disbursements were $66.39. The balance in the fund is $3,294.44. Disbursements in the south sewer district fund were a little over $100. The balance in the fund is $3,808.48. The disbursements in the electric case was re-opened, and a group of Badger representatives suggested changes in the various schedules. These changes, presented to the commission and the roads in the meeting last week, were so technical that the examiner for the commission and the railroad representatives were willing to take more time for a study. Completing this, the final discussion will be had May 26, after which the commission is expected to rule on the rates not settled by arbitration.

CANTON INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS BRIGHT

Canton, O. — Industrial conditions in April have been the brightest in Canton's history, according to leading manufacturers. Practically every plant in the Canton industrial district is working full force and many have authorized big expenditures for additions and modernization.

CHAPTER XXX

"Certainly not. Who wants to see the inside of a jail?"

Harold almost sobbed with relief. "God, I'm glad to hear you say that," he told her. "I was afraid you would do it to spite me if I told you to stay away."

"Oh, get out," Pamela exclaimed impatiently. "I've got to get Margola and some of the crowd together and tell them about this. I'd rather have them laugh in my face than behind my back."

Harold left her and went to his own rooms. He felt like a hound, but he told himself that anything he did to protect Pamela was justified. And if she didn't care any more about Armitage than she seemed to, the fellow was lucky not to marry her.

Stephen did not feel that way about it. He couldn't see any luck behind the disappointment that Pamela's indifference caused him. He took it pretty hard, though he tried to convince himself that Harold had not given her his message.

He was completely unprepared for the one visitor who came to him. Mildred had come downtown to carry on her search for work and when she left the train she bought a paper, saw the item telling of Stephen's arrest.

She read it through, though at first it was only a maddening confusion of words. But when she came to the end of it, she acted swiftly. She must get to Stephen at once, without a moment's delay.

"Mildred! He came to her with outstretched hand when the turnkey opened the door of his cell to admit her.

"Oh, Stephen," she cried, "Stephen, I didn't know until a little while ago. Why didn't you see me word?"

"It's good to see you," Stephen said, "but this isn't just the place for nice girls, I guess."

Stephen plunged abruptly into his story. He did not mind relating it on this occasion. It was a relief to have someone to talk to and in the telling of it he managed to convince himself that it was really as preposterous as he had begun to fear it might not be.

Mildred was unconscious of holding his hand, utterly unaware of the commiserating pressure she gave it. "That's all there is to it," Stephen ended. "I'm innocent, but I don't know how to prove it."

Mildred's clouded eyes brightened as she answered, "Stephen, I have a clue to work on."

Stephen scarcely could credit Mildred's statement with much importance, especially as she refused to tell him anything more about the "clue."

She meant to make Harold grant her permission to tell Stephen about Huck and the latter's threat to ruin him. If he did not, she would tell anyhow.

She jumped to her feet as Stephen pressed his questions and told him she would come back in the morning.

"And then I'll bring you some news," Stephen promised excitedly. Stephen could not fall to be somewhat fired with hope by her of sincerity.

"You've cheered me immensely," he told her when they said goodbye. Those words gave Mildred courage for her coming interview with Harold as she went in search of him.

Mildred found Harold at the Judson.

Harold had an inkling of what was to come, having no doubt that Mildred had read of Stephen's arrest. He thought it better to let Mildred have her way with no one about to overhear.

"Are you going to let Stephen stay there in that jail without doing anything to help him?" she began as soon as they were alone.

"How the devil can I help him?" Harold retorted.

"You know who put him there!" Mildred looked at him in utter amazement. Then her anger flamed up in a white heat.

"So you're going to sacrifice him to save yourself," she cried, and the words flung at Harold with the sting of a lash. "Well, if you don't do something I will. I'll tell him that you knew Huck. That was planning something like this. And I can guess why. It was to get Stephen out of the way because he was jealous of him."

"Mildred, you know I'd rather die than have Huck get Pamela."

Mildred was merciless. "I know you'd rather let an innocent man stay in jail than have your father know what it is Huck's got on you, she fired back bitterly.

"But I tell you I don't know anything about it," Harold denied.

"Huck hates Armitage—he's jealous, yes, but that doesn't prove that he's back of Stephen's trouble."

"It doesn't! Don't pretend to be stupid. If the circumstantial evidence hadn't been planted in Stephen's room I might believe that Huck had nothing to do with it. But someone wanted Stephen arrested. Who could it be if not Huck?"

"Well, there's nothing to prove that Huck had a hand in it," Harold replied.

"Oh, you're just a coward," Mildred charged, "but I'm going to tell Stephen all that I know."

"You have no right to do that," Harold protested. "You nagged at that me until you got me to tell you about Huck."

His words were so accusing, so fraught with fear, that Mildred wavered.

"If he finds out that I've been babbling to you he'll finish me," Harold went on pleadingly. "And what if he didn't frame Stephen? I'd be done for just the same. You ought to have proof before you go that far."

"Telling Stephen won't do you any harm until he's at the bottom of his arrest," Mildred pointed out. "If he is, Harold, you ought to be willing to have him found out. Then he'd have no chance to marry Pamela."

"You don't know what it means to me," Harold groaned.

"I'm sorry," she said colorlessly, "but I've got to tell Stephen, it's the only clear there is."

Harold collapsed like a pricked balloon.

"I'll see that Stephen doesn't do anything to let Huck know we suspect him," she promised, "and if we can prove him guilty you won't have anything more to fear. You see that, don't you?" she added, her aversion overcome by pity.

"You're a fraud," Harold cried, getting up to face her; "a cheating fraud. You wormed all this out of me just because you're in love with Armitage. And I thought you were the one friend I had in all the world."

Mildred thrust out a protesting hand. "Harold," she cried, "I didn't want to help you. I had no idea Stephen was mixed up in it. You only told me that the last time I saw you."

"But now that you know you're going to throw me to the lions," Harold sneered and turned away from her.

"I'm not," Mildred said tearfully. "I want to help you both!"

POLICE HEAD OF NEW YORK SEEKS AID OF CITIZENS

Night Sticks Go Back in Holsters as Whalen Turns to Other Methods

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press

New York — Exhuming an old aphorism by former Inspector Williams, police commissioner Whalen announced when he took office Dec. 19, that "there is more law in the end of a policeman's night stick than in a decision of the United States supreme court." He unlimbered the department night sticks and failed many and sundry vagrant skulls. Now, after five months, the night stick is back in the holster and today the commissioner calls to his aid a citizens' committee, headed by a woman.

The committee is composed of social workers, bankers, lawyers, philanthropists and preachers. No one of them ever swung a night stick.

In his announcement, Mr. Whalen expresses the hope that the committee "can help to improve neighborhood conditions, counsel with parents and co-operate with the church, the schools and other social forces, to the end of crime prevention." He continues:

"I believe they constitute a group of socially minded individuals some in the field of social work and crime prevention and other distinguished business men, all of whom are willing to give of their time, ability and means to the service of the city."

Mr. Whalen is Mayor Walker's third police commissioner. George V. McLaughlin remained in office one year after Mayor Walker's election. He was replaced by Joseph A. Warren. Crime statistics were stubbornly indifferent to Mr. Warren's repeated announcements that crime was decreasing and that the criminals were on the run.

Mr. Warren passed on to Mr. Whalen took the lists against the gangsters, gunmen and racketeers. He swung a wicked bludgeon but casualties were few.

WHALEN IS ATTACKED

On the day of his call for a committee, Mr. Whalen is attacked by William Bullock, chairman of the city affairs bureau of the republican county committee. Mr. Bullock finds that 80 murders were committed in New York city during the first three months of this year, as against 70 for the corresponding period last year. He also finds that in New York last year, there were 200 murders and seven convictions, making a New York killer's chance of escaping punishment just 97.7 per cent. According to Mr. Bullock there were no convictions for first degree murder in Manhattan, the Bronx or Brooklyn during 1928.

Mayor Walker is, of course, on the receiving end of all this, as well as Mr. Whalen. There is a mayoralty election in the offing and the gold dome in Centre Street, where Mr. Whalen keeps both his night stick and his pen, is a shining mark for politicians. The New York police department has never been altogether free from political entanglements. The republicans recently attempted to shove the Arnold Rothstein case into the state legislature and neither side has ever been backward in delving into the department for political ammunition. Commissioner Arthur Woods, under Mayor Mitchell, managed to free himself from the shackles of politics and was a first class commissioner.

The Baumes laws did not bring the expected mullienum. On the whole they have been just about as effective as other habitual criminal statutes throughout the country during the past years. Both the national crime commission, with headquarters here and the state crime commission have admitted that the fundamental causes of crime were deep and elusive.

While they have inclined toward social correctives, rather than extreme legalistic or punitive means, they find statistics and exact knowledge lacking. In spite of all that has been done, crime remains as the most troublesome and possibly the most menacing enigma in America, as President Hoover has indicated.

OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

Jack Black, former burglar, who spent a large portion of his life in prison and who is now a highly respected author and playwright, was asked for an "inside" view of these matters. Mr. Black has made a close study of crime problems. He was reminded that an intelligent returned burglar ought to know more about the cause and prevention of crime than the ordinary criminologist. "I have discussed these matters with yeggs, second-story men and burglars at Salt Chuck Mary's in Idaho and in exclusive jungles throughout the country," said Mr. Black. "and I have great regard for their opinions, which are, in my means academic—they know. In our little seminars, over a bucket of mulligan stew, we have often raised the question of what might be done to prevent crime.

"The answer is always the same. It is not the severity of the sentence but the certainty of it which will lessen crime. Nobody wants to do life even on the installment plan. It is the more than even chance that you won't get caught that makes you try just one more job.

"That's one thing and then the easy accessibility of a gun is another. I was doubtful about this until I began to make a study of this in England and other European countries. In these countries, you can't stop at a store and pick up a gun the way you buy a cigar.

"If Mr. Henry thought I have the job of ending crime, and making me an autocrat, I would do two things. I would get the judiciary and the police out of politics and I would make punishment not necessarily extremely severe, but unfailing; then I would abolish revolvers. I have gone into this pretty carefully and I am convinced that it is because they do these two things that they have so much less crime in England than in America. I am of course, entirely sympathetic toward the social approach to the problem, but for immediate practical methods the two measures I have suggested offer the only hope."

PRIEST USES FISTS TO GUARD NEGRESS FROM ARMED NEGRO

Chicago—(P)—The Rev. N. Broccoli, assistant pastor of St. Dominic's Roman Catholic church fought barehanded last night in defense of a Negro woman against a Negro who was armed with a knife.

He came upon the Negro struggling with the woman in front of the church. In the rough and tumble fight that followed the Negro, getting the worst of it, pulled a long knife. The priest, however, continued to punish him with blows until police arrived, and went to the police station to sign a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon.

TAXI DRIVER FOUND KILLED IN TRENCH OF MEXICAN REBELS

Children Find Hand Projecting from Earth Works Near Border

Douglas, Ariz.—(P)—A crumbling earthen trench which rebel soldiers used during the recent Mexican revolution, today provided the chief clue in a search for the slayers of Thomas Chambers, Douglas taxi driver.

Chambers' knife-slashed body was found yesterday on the outskirts of Agua Prieta, Sonora, across the international line from here in a rift pit where less than three weeks ago soldiers of the rebellion had maintained a machine-gun nest. Mexican children who had appropriated the war-time trench as a playground stumbled over the exposed human hand and fled in terror to spread an alarm. Chambers had been missing since last Wednesday night when he left his stand here with a passenger, said by witnesses to have been an American.

Examination of the body disclosed eight deep gashes in the neck and chest, one knife-thrust having severed the jugular vein and another having penetrated the heart.

Chambers' friends reported to police that the taxi driver had $300 on his person when he disappeared. No money was found on the body.

Working with the trench grave as a nucleus, police of Douglas, and Agua Prieta today were endeavoring to run down reports that there were eye-witnesses to either the slaying or the apparently hasty burial in Agua Prieta.

Investigation also was going on of rumors that Chambers' automobile had been seen at several places in Mexico since his disappearance.

A report from Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, across the Sierra Madre mountains from the state of Sonora, said, Chambers' car had been seen there. Police received other reports that the machine had been seen in Cumpas, south of Nogozari, Sonora, more than 50 miles from here, and had been observed to proceed toward Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, on the Montezum highway, carrying several well dressed and seemingly excited Mexicans.

Chambers was the sixth Douglas taxicab driver murdered in the past fifteen years.

PRUSSIAN DIET BARS 12 COMMUNIST MEMBERS

Berlin—(P)—Though May day is two weeks past, the reverberations of shots fired in suppressing the Communist uprising of that period still echo in German politics.

Twelve Communist members of the Prussian diet were suspended for periods up to eight days yesterday because of their conduct during the period of the disturbances.

Build Two Large Fish Ponds In Hilbert Park

By W. F. WINSEY

Hilbert — To beautify the grounds and to furnish sport for tourists and a supply of feed for mink, the first mink ranch of Wisconsin is building two large fish ponds, one on the west side of the park and the other on the east side. The one on the west side will be stocked at once with 100 fourteen pound catfish, 100 one and one-half pound pickeral, and 500 bull-heads running five to the pound. As these types of fish do not relish each other no cannibalism will be practiced, no ructions are expected, and no interference with private spawning beds. The pond on the east side will be divided into three sections. One section will be used for spawning one for fry and the other for fish of larger growth. The capacity of the east pond will vary with the size of the fish but that of the west pond is estimated at 2,000 fish.

The pond nearly completed is built in the shape of a star. It contains three islands that will be used as flower gardens. The islands are wall-side with stone, and are separated by channels. The outer wall of the pond is stone and cement. Inside the outer wall is a channel about four feet wide with bridges crossing it to the islands. In the center of the star is a large circular pond. Recesses in the walls below the water line and in the clay bottom furnish protection for spawn and fry. Gates divide the star into three sections. Flowers and shrubbery will be grown on the islands and around the pond. A large spring will furnish the water which will discharge from the pond into a passing creek.

SECOND STORY THIEF ROBS CUDAHY OFFICER

Chicago—(P)—The "second story" burglar, a species of crook almost extinct, got 23,600 in jewelry last night at the home of Andrew W. Anderson, secretary of the Cudahy Packing company.

He entered through a second floor window, using a ladder. He found a bathrobe, put it on, walked downstairs and asked Mrs. Anderson and her daughter, Elizabeth, for their gems. He held his hands in the bathrobe pockets, as though pointing pistols at them.

Finishing the robbery, the man replaced the bathrobe, downed his own coat and hat, bade the ladies good evening and walked out the front door.

MISSING BOY STILL SOUGHT BY SHERIFF

Cards were sent out this week by Sheriff Fred W. Giese to sheriff and police departments in the western part of the United States asking help in the search for Herbert Winslow, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Winslow, 281 E. Winnebago-st., who disappeared about two weeks ago. The parents received a postcard from the boy, postmarked Minneapolis, several days after he left but since then they have had no word. Efforts to locate him in Minneapolis were fruitless. The boy, although only 13, appears to be 17. He is five feet six inches tall and weighs about 135 pounds. When he disappeared he was wearing a grey cap and black oxford. Two of his front teeth are broken.

The New England type of mink is being raised at the local ranch. The proprietor, Peter Flemming, uses his own card system of registration to avoid complications in breeding and sales, and for his own safety.

For breeding purposes he reserves the most productive females and now has a number that are making records of ten kittens to the litter.

MOBILE MARITIME RE-ALLOCATION IS ORDERED BY BOARD

Radio Commission Will Begin Issuing New Licenses Immediately

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press

Washington—A sweeping re-allocation of assignments of ship and coastal radio stations employing the mobile maritime frequency in the long and short wave bands has been ordered by the federal radio commission to become effective at once.

Under the re-alignment the jumbled manner in which channels have heretofore been allocated to vessels at sea and to the shore stations handling this traffic is to be straightened out. The mobile maritime re-allocation is designed to do for ships what the broadcasting re-allocation of last November did for the radio listeners. And in importance, it is second only to the complete broadcasting shake-up of last November 11.

The commission will begin immediately to issue new licenses to the some 3,000 licensees in this branch of radio, covering the necessary modifications under the re-allocation. The new distribution, drafted by the commission's engineers, and understood to be acceptable to the larger of the licensees such as the Radiomarine Corporation of America and Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, was made in conformity with the international Radio Telegraph convention of 1927 and pertaining only to mobile frequencies.

"Working channels" for both ship and coastal stations are set aside in orderly manner, under the re-allocation. Likewise "calling" frequencies, upon which the stations may "call" the particular station with which they wish to communicate, but may not handle actual traffic, likewise are singled out. Divided in two parts, the allocation assigns high and low calling and working channels for ocean-going vessels, and low calling and working channels for Great Lakes vessels at the first part.

High and low calling and working channels for coastal stations include mobile press assignments included in the second phase of the re-alignment.

RADIOMARINE GETS 38

The Radiomarine corporation of America is assigned a total of 38 channels for its vast ship to shore business; Mackay gets 24; Tropical Radio Telegraph company (United Fruit company) 22, and other companies totalling about 20, are assigned 18 channels. For ship stations 38 channels are set aside, but the ships may also use the working frequencies of the individual coastal stations when directed to do so by the coastal station control the frequency, so that in effect they have access to a far greater number of channels.

The allocation plan does not include maritime channels between 1500 and 3450 kilocycles as these are reserved for comparatively short-distance communication and will be reserved for allocation to local communications services.

The Radiomarine Corporation licenses itself some 1200 vessels upon which it installs its own radio equipment and operators. These vessels work with Radiomarine shore stations, and represent a large portion of the mobile maritime traffic. The Mackay company, on the same basis, has licensed approximately 100 vessels.

One controversy has developed in the re-allocation, and that is the assignment of the choice frequency of 13 kilocycles, used by Transoceanic passenger liners traveling on regular schedule. Both the Radiomarine and Mackay companies because of no agreement the commission has decided to make this channel assignment the basis of a formal hearing to be held next month. Two applicants will endeavor to show cause why it would be in the public interest to assign this channel to their respective companies. On this channel more radio traffic is handled than on any other frequency assigned for mobile maritime service.

Dance at Sherwood Wed. May 15. Music by Chet and His 8 Knights of Harmony.

CONLEY IS MANAGER OF NEW FUR COMPANY

Northland Fur and Packing Company Organized at Rhinelander

Edward C. Conley, formerly of this city, and P. E. Kabel of Rhinelander have practically completed plans for their new rabbit fur and packing industry to be located in Rhinelander, according to word received here.

Officers and directors of the company, the name of which is the Northlands Fur and Packing company are: P. E. Kabel, president; S. D. Nelson, vice president; E. W. Boyle, secretary; R. J. LaSelle, treasurer; A. Rollman, W. D. Brown, Samuel Brown, A. J. O'Brien, J. Backer and the four officers, directors.

Mr. Conley is general manager of the company. The company has purchased the plant and property of the Rhinelander Box and Lumber company, one and one-half miles from Rhinelander on Highway 8 and 47. The plant is fitted for the operations of the rabbit enterprise and alterations which are necessary are now being made.

Mr. Conley is planned to operate between the ports of France and Paris

STOMACH UPSET, SOUR? THIS WILL COMFORT

Don't let sour stomach, gas, indigestion make you suffer. And don't use crude methods to get relief. There's no use when millions know the quick way; the pleasant, harmless way.

Just take a spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water. It is alkaline in the best form. It neutralizes many times its volume of excess acid — and does it instantly. It will probably end your distress in five minutes. Then you'll know what to do the next time. Crude, harmful methods will never appeal to you again.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia is the perfect way to end digestive disorders due to excess acid for men, women, children — and even babies. It's the method doctors endorse, which hospitals use. For fifty years it has been supreme.

To know the many important uses of Phillips Milk of Magnesia is to keep a bottle in the house, always. Full information with each bottle. Your drug store has the 26c and 50c sizes. Insist on the genuine. A less perfect product may not act the same.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875. adv.

TWO IN HOSPITAL AFTER QUARRELING

YOUTH SHOTS BROTHER AT RACINE AND THEN TURNS GUN ON HIMSELF

Racine —(AP)— Stanley Orlowski, 21, and his brother, Phillip, 19, are in St. Mary hospital here this afternoon, suffering from bullet wounds inflicted in what police think was a quarrel over a girl.

The elder Orlowski had kept company with Florence Rebske, 18, until last night when they quarreled. After remaining from home all night, he telephoned the girl to meet him at a street corner at noon today so that he might return a watch which she had given him, and get his ring. The girl, police think, became alarmed when she learned that Stanley had not been at home during the night and telephoned his younger brother, asking him to be at the meeting place. He drove there in his car, driving too fast, she said. Just as the girl came up, the older brother drew a revolver and fired at Stanley, striking him in the hand.

He then poked the weapon through the window of the automobile and fired at the girl. The bullet going wide, he turned the gun on himself, making a wound just above his heart. He is said to be in a serious condition at the hospital.

DEVELOPMENT OF AVIATION IS UP TO NEWSPAPERS

Country Must Be Convinced of Safety of Air Travel, Leaders Claim

BY J. C. HOYLE
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
New York.—The prompt development of commercial aviation today lies in the hands of newspapers of the country and in newspaper advertising. This was acknowledged today by men deeply interested in the growth of this infant industry. They declared the public must be convinced first of the safety of flying, of the lack of discomfort and of the equitable nature of the fares and rates charged.

The level of airplane fares today is one of the major problems of the industry but those fares are absolutely dependent on the extent of the patronage of the air lines by the public. It follows naturally that the public will not patronize the lines in great numbers unless convinced of safety and comfort. The prompt instilling of that conviction unquestionably lies with the newspapers of the country.

The present rates for the country in general now work out at a level of $150 an hour for a plane carrying 15 persons. But it costs just as much to operate such a plane empty as with a full quota of passengers and freight. It costs in proportion as much to operate a two-passenger plane as the larger type. If sufficient passengers are attracted, rates can be reduced and the public will pay just to the extent to which it gives its patronage.

The airplane companies have been using every effort to increase the safety factor. This has been the main activity of the Guggenheim Foundation and other similar bodies. Within the last six months, material progress along such lines has been made.

NEVER PLANES QUIETER
Equal efforts have been made to overcome the noise from the engines. The newer planes are having their cabins insulated against noise. A Norwegian inventor has perfected a device which it is claimed deadens the exhaust by drawing it into a vacuum chamber on one of the wings.

The air Pullman is already here and planes now are models of comfort, convenience and luxury. This is tending to make night flying much more comfortable than day journeys, for it obliterates the consciousness of extreme height which is painful to some passengers.

The investment bankers seem thoroughly convinced now that stabilization of equipment and safety has arrived and are prepared to finance the lines adequately, but the final factor is the participation of the public and it is likely that huge advertising appropriations will be devoted to that end in the next year.

The period of "ballyhoo" is past, according to men close to the industry, and they are relying on bringing stability of performance to the attention of the public instead of recording stunts. They realize that even a Lindbergh wedding is not going to be a factor in convincing the public on these subjects.

For 38 years Henry S. Everson has signed the ballots of Kingston, Mass. His handwriting today is exactly the same as when he started.

By George Clark

"I'll show him he can't get smart with me; I'm putting the stamp on sideways, which means I won't write no more."

SYRUP PRODUCTION IS SMALLER THAN YEAR AGO

Madison —(P)— Despite a slight increase in the number of maple trees tapped this year, the production of syrup and sugar was considerably smaller than a year ago, according to the state and federal crop reporting service.

The tapping season in Wisconsin began about the middle of March, and continued until the warm weather in April. The early warm weather caused the trees to bud, and thus cut short the gathering of sap.

Wisconsin's production of syrup this year is estimated at 150,000 gallons, which is about 20 per cent less than that of last year. The sugar production is about 13,000 pounds, or less than half of that produced in 1928.

The quality of this year's product is reported to be excellent, the syrup and sugar produced being good in practically all parts of the state.

With the reduced production has come an increase in prices. The average reported is $2.45 a gallon for syrup, and 43 cents a pound for sugar, paid to producers.

ANOTHER FISH STORY
Portland, Ore.—(P)—Thousands of smelt, small enough to pass through a one-inch mesh, stalled the British motor ship, Neptunian, in the Columbian river for an entire day. The tiny fish clogged intake ports and valves.

STATE ADOPTING FOREST PROGRAM

Work Is Being Carried Out Along Scientific Lines, Says Harrington

Madison —(P)— A scientific program of forest restoration is at last being adopted by Wisconsin, according to C. L. Harrington, superintendent of forests and parks.

"In all reforestation programs in this state so far we have lacked the basic information as to soil and general conditions," Mr. Harrington said. "This basic information is now being provided by the economic land survey."

Mr. Harrington believes the value of the survey to reforestation lies in the detailed study that is made of all forest growth. The survey gives information on the cover in three different types of area. These are: areas of old growth timber; areas that have reproduced naturally; and areas that should be planted.

By studying forest growth on the various types of land, it will be possible for forestry workers to forecast growth, and determine in advance what financial returns should be recovered from planting trees in certain areas. This information will be used by the state in deciding whether certain lands should be entered under the forest crop law.

Bugle Corps Practice
The regular weekly rehearsal of the Valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps will be held in Appleton high school gymnasium at 7:30 Thursday evening. The youngsters will practice for the Memorial day parade.

How To Play Bridge

BY MILTON C. WORK

MR. WORK'S POINTERS ON AUCTION BRIDGE

Mr. Work has prepared a booklet giving detailed information concerning the correct way to play Progressive Auction Bridge. This booklet will be sent to all readers without charge. Mr. Work will also answer without charge any Bridge questions. Requests must be accompanied by an addressed, stamped, return envelope, and addressed to Mr. Milton C. Work care of this newspaper.

Here is another of the "Misplaced Hands I Have Met," I give today the following:

South Declarer, contract No Trump. West led the Six of Clubs. South, using the Rule of Eleven and subtracting six from eleven, could count that there were only five Clubs higher than the Six that were not in the hand of the leader; and as Declarer had them all (one in Dummy and four in Closed Hand), he knew he could win the trick with the Seven in the Closed Hand and thought that playing the Jack from Dummy would be spending an unnecessarily high card. Consequently, he passed the Club up to the Closed Hand, winning with the Seven.

He then put Dummy in with the Ace of Hearts, led a Diamond from Dummy and finessed the Ten. When his double finesse won, he put Dummy in with the King of Spades and led a second Diamond for a second finesse; and on the next trick the Ace of Diamonds won the third round and established Dummy's two long Diamonds. All this was fine, but as Dummy did not have another entry, Closed Hand could not discard two of his three losing cards on Dummy's good Diamonds. Declarer had to give up one Spade, one Heart and one Club, he consequently made four-odd.

Could he have done any better?

THE CORRECT PLAY

When playing to the first trick Declarer could see that he might need three entries in Dummy as he might want to take two Diamond finesses and also put Dummy in to make his long Diamonds after that suit was established. While South could take the first trick with the Club Seven, it could cost nothing to win it with the Jack in Dummy.

This would give Dummy one more entry; that hand would lead Diamonds to trick 2, and Closed Hand would win with the Ten. Then Dummy could be put in with a Heart, a second Diamond trick won with Closed Hand's Queen and the Diamonds established by leading the Ace. This would mean that when Dummy gets in with the Spade King he would cash two long Diamonds and Declarer would make a Small Slam.
